TREASURY REPORTS 2 BILLIONS INFLUX OF FOREIGN MONEY

Statement Issued as New Deal Experts Study Capital Moves Abroad; England, France "Export" Larger Part of Funds.

PROBING EFFECT ON CREDIT OF U. S.

Reserve Body Will Decide Whether Control Measure Is Needed Against Flow of 'Hot Money.'

By WILLIAM S. ARDERY.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Publishing for the first time the details of foreign capital movements about which President Roosevelt recently expressed concern, the treasury today disclosed a $2,281,639,000 net inflow of funds from abroad between January 1, 1935, and last September 30.

This influx, representing the excess of funds coming into the country over those going out, came chiefly from England, Switzerland, France and the Netherlands.

Correlated with Commerce Department reports on capital movements, the treasury survey indicated that foreign holdings in this country approximated $7,000,000,000, believed to be in history on September 30.

The 127-page report, was issued as administration experts continued a general study of foreign funds here ordered by President Roosevelt.

Inflow Watched.
Actuated by economic fears abroad and hopes of profit in the United States, the capital inflow has been carefully watched by the treasury, the Federal Reserve Board and the Securities Commission to determine its effect on the nation's credit and price structures.

Officials of these agencies will decide whether any control measures are needed to guard domestic economy against "hot money"—money which flows from one nation to another for security.

Of the $2,281,639,000 net capital inflow in the 21-month period, the treasury report showed $1,353,072,000 in short-term banking funds, $805,429,000 in securities, and $23,138,000 in brokerage balances.

Foreign bank balances and security holdings are scrutinized particularly by fiscal officials, because theoretically all of the former and most of the latter could be immediately withdrawn.

Japanese and Italians Negotiate on Accord

TOKYO, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Japan tipped to Italy tonight in efforts to extend her friendly relations with European Fascist governments.

Following completion of the German-Japanese pact, against Communism, the Domei News Agency announced diplomatic conversations were under way with Italy looking toward mutual recognition of Italian-Ethiopia and Japanese-sponsored Manchukuo.

Giuseppe Angita, Italian ambassador, discussed an "important matter" at the foreign office today, but the news agency said the recognition agreement was the only commitment sought at the present time.

Anna Is Thankful Even If She Is Stranded

JAPAN THREATENS WAR ON CHINESE EXTRA PROTECTION GIVEN TO 'WALLY'

Dire Reprisals Feared Because of Capture of Stronghold in Mongolia.

KWEISUI, SUYUAN PROV., INCE, China, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Chinese military headquarters said that General Fu Tso-yl had received a strong, unveiled threat that the Japanese Kwangtung army would be thrown into the Suyuan conflict as a result of the Chinese capture of Pailingmiao.

General Fu, it was stated, had received a message from the high command of the Japanese army in Manchukuo threatening dire reprisals for the capture of the Mongol stronghold of their ally, Prince Teh Wang.

The strong military power shown by the Chinese in their defense of eastern Suyuan, military headquarters said, prompted the Japanese note.

Bloody fighting in eastern Suyuan province during the past few weeks was climaxed Tuesday night when General Fu's well-trained and equipped army defeated a strong force of Mongols and Manchukuoan irregulars at Pailingmiao and Wuchuan.

Japanese army officers were reported captured by General Fu's troops when the city fell.

Chinese charged the Japanese officers were active in the defense of Pailingmiao in addition to acting as advisors to Prince Teh, who came under Japanese influence after the central Chinese government refused to grant his demands for an autonomous Inner Mongolian state.

Several hundred other Japanese escaped in motor trucks, the high command charged, fleeing into eastern Chahar.

BOARD MEETINGS FEATURE OPENING OF CHURCH EVENT

Bishop Ainsworth Raps Liquor, Divorce, Sabbath Desecration in Talk to Methodist Conference.

By DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.
Opening day of the North Georgia Methodist annual conference was featured by numerous board and committee meetings, and an address to the conference by Bishop William N. Ainsworth, of Macon, during the first hour's session Thursday night. Methodist pastors and laymen by the hundreds came into the city Thursday afternoon and, almost without exception, they all were jubilant over the prospects of full reports to be submitted, showing financial and spiritual advances in every district in the conference territory.

Outstanding among the board meetings of the day was that of the conference board of laymen's activities, directed by Dr. I. S. Ingram, of Carrollton. Other boards assembled for the preliminary conference work were those giving attention to missions, Christian education, church extension, superannuates' homes, examining committees and the commission on supplementary salaries for underpaid pastors.

Ainsworth Speaks

For 30 minutes or more Thursday night Bishop Ainsworth addressed the conference relative to alarming conditions observed today and urged the church, and people of all faiths, to engage in a crusade to save civilization from moral decadence. The bishop said:

"Never in the nation's history was the arrest of a prophet of God more needed than it is today. Tremendous forces of reconstruction are at work and their mighty currents are changing the shore lines of our civilization. Not all of it is for the good. Millions of our people have lost their moorings. Civilization has reached the crossroads and the most serious-minded leaders of the race are wondering where we are going."

"Tremendous emphasis is being placed on a better distribution of the world's material goods and it is

Boettiger Will Edit Seattle Paper; Wife To Head Women's Page.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(AP)—William Randolph Hearst, whose newspapers opposed the re-election of President Roosevelt, announced today the appointment of John Boettiger, the President's son-in-law, as publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The announcement follows upon the settlement of the strike of the Post-Intelligencer, called by the American Newspaper Guild.

At the same time Boettiger made public his letter of resignation as assistant to Will H. Hays, head of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

In announcing the selection of Boettiger as his Seattle publisher, Hearst said:

"Mr. Boettiger will have absolute freedom in directing the editorial and business policies. His only direction is to make it the best newspaper in the West."

Boettiger refused to discuss his policies, saying: "The paper will speak for itself." Hearst's announcement said Boettiger would leave for Seattle as quickly as he can clean up his business affairs in New York. The newspaper is scheduled to resume publication Monday.

It was understood that Mrs. Boettiger—the former Anna Roosevelt Dall—would become associated with the newspaper.

Cobb Says: Dueling Death Toll's Zero

By IRVIN S. COBB.
(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 26.—Many big corporations celebrate Thanksgiving with bonuses and extra dividends. Well, that's something to be thankful for—if you still own any stock.

The holiday finds me quite calm about that Budapest doctor's string of nine duels. I lived through several Kentucky primary elections, so a scrap where you don't have to replace any votes afterwards leaves me comparatively cold.

There's an average of 300 duels every month in Hungary, but, to date, the only fatalities are among those who were bored to death, waiting for something to happen. It's fine to be able to appease your sacred honor without losing any of your sacred epidermis.

If, in the old days, we'd only had that system for adjusting political differences, I can think of at least one uncle and several cousins of mine who might still be alive and playing the regular Democratic ticket.

GREEN DEMANDS FULL PROTECTION OF SECURITY FUND

Labor Leader, Declaring Solons May Get Whimsical With Reserves, Advocates Amendment.

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 26.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, called for amendment of the social security act today to protect the gigantic old-age reserve fund from congressional "whims."

Pointing out the old-age fund would reach an estimated $46,000,000 by 1950 and payment of annuities would depend on congressional appropriations, Green said:

"There is a danger congress might get whimsical and refuse to make these appropriations—or use the fund for some other purpose."

"The payment of these annuities must be guaranteed without a peradventure of doubt."

An amendment to earmark the old-age reserve would be among many the federation would send to congress this winter, Green said. Others now being drafted would:

Extend Measure

1. Extend unemployment insurance and the compulsory old-age annuity plans to cover agricultural workers and all industrial employees.
2. Increase the maximum federal contribution for old-age pensions from $15 to $25 a month.
3. Have the federal government contribute to the annuity system and reduce the workers' contribution.

4. Provide for federal collection of the entire employee-paid unemployment insurance pay roll tax, with subsequent grants to state funds.

State legislatures, Green said, would be asked to set up the "pooled-fund" type of unemployment insurance with payments based on the "hazard of unemployment" aid to increase the size of old-age pensions.

If a constitutional amendment were found necessary to ratify any part of this program, Green said, the federation would support it.

He indicated also that further

Few Accidents Reported in City During Thanksgiving Celebration

White meat and dark meat formed serious questions for Atlantans yesterday as they sat down to annual Thanksgiving feasts.

Police reported only a few minor accidents in the city yesterday. From the office of the state game and fish commissioner came the estimate, based on number of licenses reported sold throughout the state Wednesday, that more Georgians were in the field hunting yesterday than on any previous Thanksgiving.

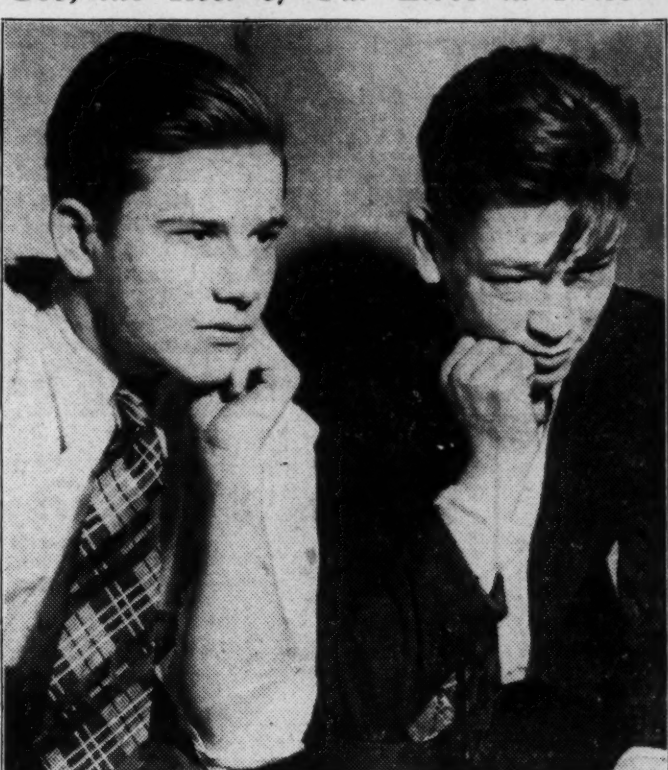

Throughout the morning, at various hours, the churches of the city gathered their congregations for an hour of worshipful Thanksgiving.

Some at noon, some at night, but Atlanta sat down to the annual Thanksgiving feast yesterday and enjoyed the usual turkey, cranberry sauce and dressing.

Over at Fulton tower, prisoners had reason to be thankful also, for county officials had a big turkey dinner prepared for the tower's inmates. During the day only two new additions were

"Gee, the Rest of Our Lives in Prison"

"Gee, the rest of our lives in prison. And we are so young," These words are written in the faces of these two Chicago youths, Frank Tallach, 17, left, and his brother-in-law, Louis Miller, 18, who were sentenced to 199 years in the penitentiary for murdering Martin Damaskas, an intended holdup victim, and wounding of another 50-year-old man when he resisted their attempts to rob him.

Three of the five men convicted in south Georgia's famous "Browning murder case" yesterday enjoyed freedom after having been sentenced less than five years ago to serve life.

They were pardoned by Governor Talmadge.

Attorneys for the three, sentenced for the Valdosta crime, said he acted "because of doubt of the guilt of the prisoners."

The three pardoned were Homer Padgett, Travers Erwin and R. Z. Chaney, Erwin's father-in-law. According to Ed A. Stephens, special prosecutor in the case, Padgett confessed in court to complicity in the shooting. He refused comment on the case.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Browning, aged operators of a filling station, first he killed Browning, and that his nephew, Allen Westberry, killed Mrs. Browning.

Erwin and Chaney were serving at the Lowndes county chain gang near Valdosta. Padgett was at Milledgeville. His parents, who attended the hearing, went from Atlanta to Milledgeville to obtain his release.

At the trial of Chaney and Erwin in Quitman, Austin Westberry testified he killed Browning, and that his nephew, Allen Westberry, killed Mrs. Browning.

The Westberrys once were under death sentence.

W. H. Crawford Home Is Destroyed by Fire

CRAWFORD, Ga., Nov. 26.—Woodlawn, the historic home of William H. Crawford, former secretary of the United States treasury and minister to France, was completely destroyed by fire at about 3:30 p. m. today.

The home was outside the fire limits of the city of Crawford and no water was available to combat the flames, which soon completely destroyed the house and all outbuildings. Most of the furniture and household effects of the tenant were saved.

It is understood that the property was owned by an eastern insurance company and it could not be ascertained whether the loss was covered by any insurance.

Efforts were under way to purchase the property and, with the aid of the government, to convert it into a national park. However, nothing now remains of the old homestead.

Roosevelt Junior Ill; First Lady to Bedside

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—An acute sinus infection today confined Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. to a hospital bed and disrupted the Thanksgiving plans of the dry-land contingent of the presidential family.

Mrs. Roosevelt, mother of the Harvard senior whose engagement to Miss Ethel du Pont recently was announced, hurried to Boston after hearing that her son was ill. She abandoned plans for a holiday family dinner at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Young Roosevelt went to Phillips hospital of the Massachusetts General hospital late yesterday. The hospital declined repeatedly to report on the condition of the President's son.

Mrs. Roosevelt stayed with her son during much of Thanksgiving afternoon.

Reach Comrades in University City Hospital; Government Claims Enemy Is in Bad Position.

Spanish Insurgents beat a tardy diplomatic retreat yesterday after a display of British naval might by creating neutral safety zones in the harbor of Barcelona.

Even as General Franco replied affirmatively to the British request, eight of his majesty's submarines and the tender Cyclops were en route to Spanish waters and a flotilla of destroyers was making ready to reinforce British warships there.

London appeared to be relieved by the turn of events. Informed sources there had viewed the Spanish threat of a complete blockade of Barcelona gravely. Both London and Paris had declared they would brook no interference with their shipping. A charge by the Spanish Socialist government that the Rebel fleet was more or less openly supported by German and Italian warships lent added significance to the situation.

With the siege of Madrid dragging on and the danger to inhabitants of Madrid mounting hourly, practically the entire American contingent left yesterday for Valencia, where an American warship will proffer transportation. Twenty-two Americans remained in Madrid and ate a Thanksgiving dinner of sardines and cold beans to the accompaniment of bursting hand grenades and artillery fire.

European diplomats remaining in Madrid informed their governments that no part of the shell-shattered capital was safe.

Gloom settled over the foreign colony following mutual repudiation of a safety zone scheme by Premier Francisco Largo Caballero, of the

74 Die Violent Deaths During Thanksgiving

By The Associated Press.
At least 74 persons were killed yesterday in holiday accidents which brought a tragic note into many homes where Thanksgiving festivities were planned.

Fifty-five of the victims met death in holiday automobile traffic. Seven others were killed in hunting accidents, while five, train mishaps and other causes, accounted for 12 lives.

Three men and a boy were killed at Waterford, N. J., when their truck was struck by the Williams Express of the Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore lines. The group started out for fireworks to prepare a Thanksgiving dinner.

Barclay H. Warburton Jr., socially prominent sportsman and aviator, was fatally wounded while hunting on his farm near Doylestown, Pa.

MY COOKERY

By RUTH CHAMBERS.

Special occasions which call for expense is not considered when we family gatherings or the entertainment of friends as a rule bring about a sizeable increase in the food bill. Usually we balance the budget by economizing later, and the matter of the age of over-elaborate and pretentious feasts. Simple food, if it is excellently cooked and simply but attractively served, is always correct. No hostess need apologize for a good, substantial meat dish from one of the less-demanding cuts; well cooked vegetables, a dainty salad and a tasty dessert. These, served on her "best" china and immaculate linen, are "feast" enough for any occasion. A simple but attractive table decoration—a fruit centerpiece, or flowers in season for instance—and a festive touch in garnishing the food will give the proper atmosphere. But the main thing is that the food be sufficient for hearty appetites and that it be excellently cooked. Here are suggestions for main dishes which are good enough for any occasions and yet will not tax a slim budget.

Short Ribs of Beef.

Simmer the short ribs for an hour. Lift out and arrange in a dripping pan. Season with salt and pepper. Spread the top with a little savory drippings. Add 1 tablespoon of the liquor in which the ribs were cooked and an onion stuck with 2 cloves. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.)

until browned and almost tender. Then put into the pan small potatoes parboiled eight minutes. Season with salt and pepper and bake until meat is tender and the potatoes crisp and brown. Serve the ribs on a platter surrounded with the potatoes.

Stuffed Breast of Lamb.

Select a breast of lamb including the foreshank. Have the bones of the breast cracked so that the meat can be carved between the ribs. Wipe with a damp cloth, remove the shank, cut off the meat and grind it for stuffing. Make a pocket by cutting the flesh close to the ribs. Sprinkle the pocket with salt and pepper, and fill with the forcemeat. Rub the outside with salt, pepper and flour. Place on a rack in an open pan with the rib side down.

Add no water. Cook in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) until the meat is tender, about 1 1/2 hours.

Forcemeat Stuffing.

To make the forcemeat stuffing, melt 2 tablespoons butter in a skillet, add 1 1/2 cup chopped celery, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, and fry 2 minutes. Add ground meat from the shank, stir until the meat browns slightly. Add bread crumbs and season with savory seasoning, salt, pepper and minced parsley.

Spanish Meat Ring.

A meat loaf gains distinction, somehow, when baked in a ring mold, and served with the center heaped with fluffy rice potatoes, or colorful vegetables. This meat ring is good enough for any occasion.

One pound ground beef, 1 pound ground pork, 2 cups unsweetened apple sauce, 2 beaten eggs, 3 cups cracker crumbs, 1 1/2 cup chopped pimiento, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper.

Combine the ingredients in the order named, adding milk or water if more moisture is needed. Pack into a well greased ring mold, or loaf pan, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour.

Stuffed Spareribs.

Two strips spareribs, 1 cup prunes, soaked over night; 1 cup pineapple, cut into pieces; 4 apples, cored and pared; 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper.

Cut the prunes, pineapple and apples into small pieces, and mix them together. Add the sugar and cinnamon. Cover one strip of spareribs with stuffing and place the other on top. Press together tightly. Season with salt and pepper, and sprinkle with flour. Place in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) and make until tender and nicely browned, about 1 1/2 hours.

STRIKERS WILL MAN 3 ALASKAN VESSELS

U. S. Seeking To Get Food to North, However; Hawaiian Plight Unsettled.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The government broke the west coast shipping tieup today by obtaining verbal agreements with striking maritime unions to man federally operated relief ships to Alaska "for the duration of the emergency."

Interior Department authorities moved at high speed to get an emergency ship under way to Sitka and Cordova within five days to relieve what was described as a situation threatening to become serious. While thousands of striking men sat down to skimp Thanksgiving dinners, union negotiators and government representatives worked out plans for using two fishing vessels and one government ship to maintain ten-day service between Seattle and the northern territory.

Hawaiian Plight

The holiday interrupted peace negotiations between one group of ship owners and the unions. The plight of strike-isolated Hawaii remained to be considered. Government spokesmen said they would take up the island problem as soon as they could observe the results of the Alaska arrangement.

Colonel O. F. Ohlson, manager of the government-owned Alaska railroad, announced the completion of arrangements with the unions but said the necessary contracts would not be signed until tomorrow after the unions rechecked the details.

Ohlson said he would charter the Alaska packers' steamer Arctic here tomorrow and proceed as once to Seattle to take over another privately owned vessel.

He ordered immediate loading of the Bureau of Indian Affairs ship Boxer at Seattle for a quick dash to Sitka and other south Alaska ports.

"I am told the situation there will become serious unless a ship reaches those ports within 30 days," Ohlson said.

18-Day Trip.
Under the schedule, the Boxer should arrive off southern Alaska in not more than 17 days.

The arrangement was made by authority of President Roosevelt, who recently authorized government chartering and operation of emergency vessels to the northern territory to break a shortage of fresh foods and other necessities.

Ohlson said he would employ 80 seagoing men at once and would use an undetermined number of long-shoremen. The men are to be paid wages prevailing last season for fishing fleet personnel. This pay averages about $12 a month, plus higher than that paid seamen before the strike developed October 20.

The Alaska railroad is to bear the chartering and operating expense. Ohlson did not disclose the figures involved.

Thanksgiving menus were stunted in Alaska and Hawaii as well as in the strikers' mess halls. A few citizens in the northern territory managed to acquire turkey at 75 cents a pound, 30 cents above normal.

Canned, Native Foods.
Hawaii eked out holiday meals with the aid of can openers and native foods. There was plenty of young roast pig, chickens and ducks, but turkeys sold at 70 cents a pound, Hawaii's 800 strikers had corned beef and cabbage.

Nine thousand San Francisco strikers, fed at the joint strike committee's kitchen, had roast lamb, carrots, peas, celery, nuts, oranges, raisin pudding and a pint of beer each.

An estimated 3,000 maritime men were fed by the unions at San Pedro. The strike committee declined to state the exact number and did not divulge the menu.

Portland strike headquarters fed about 1,500 on roast beef, chicken and some turkey. Seattle's 600 strikers' headquarters diners had no special menu.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. David C. Cook, Atlanta, and Mrs. A. A. Payne, of Charlotte, N. C.; a son, J. A. Baldwin, who is connected with an advertising concern here, and six grandchildren, Marjorie Payne, of Charlotte; Collier, Margaret, Frank and Betty Cook and Pat Baldwin, of Atlanta.

Funeral plans will be announced by H. M. Patterson.

FINDS 2-HEARTED TURKEY.
OGDEN, Utah, Nov. 26.—(AP)—When Dean McCarthy, of Ogden, cut into his 16-pound Thanksgiving Day turkey, he found that the bird was equipped with two fully developed hearts. It appeared normal otherwise.

THREE MEALS A DAY

HOME TESTED RECIPES
BY Sally Sawyer

Those who regularly send home-made gifts to their friends at Christmas time such as fruit cakes or plum puddings and have not yet heeded the slogan of "bake early" will be interested to learn about a new fruit cake recipe which can be made even a few weeks from Christmas and still be fully ripened in flavor.

One attractive feature of this type of fruit cake is that because of its size it does not require as long to age as the larger cakes from three to five pounds in weight.

Fruit cakes made in candied grapefruit shells are not especially attractive in appearance, but are also delightfully different in flavor. Fruit cake served with any of the fine American wines now available will make just the right refreshment needed when friends drop in unexpectedly for short, friendly visits during the holiday season.

Although it takes but a moment to prepare this holiday favorite for serving, the impression of the delicious flavor combination of the fruit cake and wine will linger long in your memory.

Christmas Fruit Cakes in Candied Grapefruit Shells.
Select large Florida seeded grapefruit of good shape and color. Wash carefully; break the oil cells by grating lightly on a fine grater. Cut a slice from the stem end of the grapefruit; remove the inside, being careful to leave all of the thick part of the peel, and being careful not to break the shell. You will find a small sharp paring knife useful in cutting the fruit free from the rind—remove as much as possible in this manner; then by using a heavy spoon, the remaining membrane and pulp may be scraped from the rind.

Cover the shell with cold salted water; bring to a boil, cook about 10 minutes. Drain off water. Repeat the process three or four times, or until as much of the bitter flavor is removed as desired. Cool shell. Put in a syrup made of equal parts of sugar and water. If a slight wine flavor is enjoyed, add wine to the syrup, allow one tablespoon of wine to each cup of water used. Be sure to use sufficient syrup to float the fruit. Cook to 220 degrees Fahrenheit (medium thick syrup); let fruit stand in syrup at least 24 hours. Turn several times during this period. Then cook to 228 degrees Fahrenheit (very thick syrup). Remove from syrup and cool. If the shell is large, turn it over a glass to shape.

Of course you will want to use the sections of grapefruit removed from the shell and here is the recipe for a most tempting salad which you can prepare.

Grapefruit-Pineapple Salad.
One cup grapefruit sections, 1 cup diced pineapple, lettuce, 1-4 cup pecan meats, mayonnaise or salad dressing.

Mix the grapefruit and pineapple and keep chilled for several hours before preparing the salad, as it must be made just before serving. Arrange the fruit on the lettuce covered plates and top with about a tablespoon mayonnaise, or salad dressing and cream. Sprinkle on pecans.

The recipe for the fruit cake is as follows:

Dark Fruit Cake.
One-half cup shortening, 1-2 cup brown sugar, 4 eggs, 1 cup flour, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-4 teaspoon cloves, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 cups seedless raisins, 1-2 cup citron (chopped), 1-2 cup candied orange peel (chopped), 2-3 cup walnuts (chopped).

Cream shortening and sugar, add eggs one at a time, beating vigorously after each addition. Mix and sift flour, nutmeg, cloves and salt; add to first mixture. Add raisins, citron, orange peel and walnuts. Fill crystallized grapefruit shell with the fruit cake mixture. Steam one hour; bake in a slow oven 300 degrees Fahrenheit about 30 minutes. Roll shell in granulated or powdered sugar. This amount will fill two or three grapefruit shells, depending upon size.

From three to five weeks is sufficient aging of these cakes. Wrap them in a cloth dampened with wine.

Wrap again in a dry cloth and wax-paper, then store in a dark, cool place. Change the wine cloth two or three times during the aging period.

If you care to make dainty individual Christmas fruit cakes, these may be prepared in the same manner as the grapefruit, using orange shells instead of grapefruit.

Ellen's Fruit Cake.
One cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 beaten eggs, 2 tablespoons soda, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 3-4 cup wine, 1 cup sour milk, 4 cups flour.

Cream butter and sugar, add eggs and the flour sifted with dry ingredients alternately with wine and sour milk. To this mixture add:

One-half pound citron strips, 1 pound seeded raisins, 1 glass candied cherries, 2 cups white raisins, 1 cup chopped figs, candied pineapple.

Bake in 8 1-2 inch pan until done. The top may be decorated with fruit when the cake is about half finished. Place in covered tin box, wrapped in cloth that has been soaked in wine. At intervals of about 2 weeks pour wine over the cloth and replace cover.

Black Cake.
One pound blanched almonds, 1 tablespoon rosewater, 1 pound shredded citron, 3 pounds seeded raisins, 1 pound crystallized pineapple, 1 glass grape juice, 1 pound shortening, 1 pound sugar, 12 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon allspice, 1 tablespoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 glass grape jelly, 2 teaspoons melted chocolate, 1 pound flour (browned), 1 pound pecan nuts.

Soak almonds overnight in rosewater, the fruit in grape juice. Cream shortening and sugar, add well-beaten egg yolks, then spices, grape jelly and chocolate. Next add stiffly beaten egg whites and part of the flour. Roll remaining fruit in the flour, mixing into batter in small amounts. Add nuts mix thoroughly. Bake in a moderate oven 3 1-2 hours. Place cake in covered tin box and keep until holiday time.

Spicy Fruit Cake.
One (9 oz.) package dry mince meat and 1-2 cup water, boiled almost dry; 1 cup sugar, 1 cup butter or other shortening, 2 eggs, 1-4 cup molasses, 2 1-2 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1-2 cup water, 1-4 pound citron, finely chopped.

Break mince meat into pieces. Add cold water. Place over heat and stir until all lumps are thoroughly broken up. Bring to brisk boil; continue boiling for three minutes or until mixture is practically dry. Allow to cool.

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, and beat vigorously until smooth and creamy. Add molasses. Sift flour once, measure, add soda and sift again. Add alternately with water to first mixture. Fold in citron and cooled mince meat. Pour into two small greased loaf cake pans (3 by 7 by 2 1-2 inches). Bake in a slow oven (400 degrees F.) 1 hour and 45 minutes, or until done.

Chocolate Black Walnut Cake.
One and one-half cups sugar, 1 cup sour milk, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 1-2 squares chocolate, melted; 1-2 cup fat, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 2 1-2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 cup nuts.

Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of ingredients, beat 2 minutes. Bake 25 minutes in 2-layer cake pans in moderately slow oven. Cool, add filling.

Filling.
One-third cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 1-4 teaspoon vanilla, 1-8 teaspoon salt.

Blend sugar and flour, add egg and

EDUCATIONAL BODY TO BE FORMED HERE

Delta Kappa Gamma Society Organization Will Start at Luncheon Today.

Organization of a Georgia Delta Kappa Gamma society, national education honor fraternity, will be initiated at a luncheon at noon today at the Henry Grady hotel, Miss Ethel Massengale, city kindergarten and primary schools supervisor, announced yesterday.

Dr. Mamie S. Bastain, of Houston, Texas, national president of the society, will appear as principal speaker. Miss Massengale said efforts to establish the society in large Georgia cities will be made. "Main purposes of the fraternity are to aid in elevating the teaching standards and in developing high ideals and professional spirit among women teachers," she said.

CON GAME IRKS POLICE.
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Nov. 26. (AP)—The "confidence" game, winter worry of the local police department, made its debut early this year. Authorities today were scouring the city for a suave salesman who allegedly hoodwinked a woman out of $500 in a "long star gas pool."

79. Paralyzed.
Q. I am 79 years old and a paralytic. Have done no work for six years and have no one to support me. What are my prospects for sharing in the old-age retirement pension? When can I expect relief? L. H. C.
A. Persons now over age 65 are not eligible for the old-age retirement benefits of the social security act. Apply to the Georgia Department of Public Welfare in Atlanta to see if you can secure aid through state sources.

Q. I am a farm superintendent and would like to know if I will participate in payment under the social security act. J. H. G.

A. Agricultural workers are excepted from the provisions of the social security act.

Q. Was 61 last April. Have been regularly employed for a number of years, drawing an average of $2,500 a year. What is my status under the social security act? L. M. J.

A. Under the old-age retirement provisions of the social security act, in order to be eligible for monthly old-age retirement benefits, a person must work at least one day in each of five calendar years between December 31, 1936, and the date of his 65th birthday, plus 1-2 of 1 per cent of the next $42,000 of his earnings in that period plus 1-24 of 1 per cent of the remaining earnings between December 31, 1936, and the date of his 65th birthday. Monthly old-age retirement benefits will range from $10 to $85 per month.

Q. Will the monthly old-age payments be made according to average amount of salary drawn by beneficiary during active employment, or just how will this be determined? R. K.

A. The monthly old-age retirement benefit of an employee in an included employment is computed as follows: 1-2 of 1 per cent of the first $3,000 of his earnings between December 31, 1936, and the date of his 65th birthday, plus 1-24 of 1 per cent of the remaining earnings between December 31, 1936, and the date of his 65th birthday. Monthly old-age retirement benefits will range from $10 to $85 per month.

Q. How will people with similar names be assured they will not be confused in their social security records? In the city where I live there are several people with the identical name of mine. As we may all change residences and places of employment quite a few times before we reach 65, what will prevent a grand mix-up? T. R.

A. That is the purpose of the assignment of account numbers to individual workers. Further, the statements of age, place of birth and full names of father and mother establish the identity of persons with identical names.

Records Confidential.

Q. Are the records of your standing, that is as to salary, age position, etc., open to inspection at will? F. D. A.

A. Information given by employees on their registration blanks will be kept confidential by the Social Security Board, except that the employer will be notified when an employee reaches age 65 so that contributions for and by him may be discontinued.

Q. Is there to be later some provision made for people who do not come under the present old-age retirement pension laws? I refer to employees of concerns who have no provision as a firm for old-age pension. W. H. T.

A. The federal old-age retirement benefits will be given to all eligible employees in included employments. There is no provision for federal old-age retirement benefits for persons who reach age 65 on or before December 31, 1936. The only source of aid for persons now past 65 or who are close to that age is through the State Department of Public Welfare, which gives assistance to the indigent aged.

Great Marriage Deficit Blamed on Lean Years

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The United States has accumulated a "huge marriage and divorce deficit," two University of Chicago sociologists reported today.

They figured the nation's marriage deficit at 748,000 and the divorce deficit at 177,000 for the six years from 1930 through 1935. "As many as a million potential American children went unborn," they said, as a result of the slump in nuptials.

Professor Samuel Stouffer and Lyle M. Spencer, who based their calculations on figures supplied by state and county officials, said the depression was responsible.

The savants dubbed 1935 the "marryingest" and "divorcingest" year in American history. They estimated 1,927,000 marriages and 215,000 divorces last year established all-time records.

Provisional figures indicated, they added, the marriage rate for 1936 may be a "high or higher" than that of 1935.

Laid Off From Work BY CONSTIPATION
"For four years I suffered from constipation. I had gotten so weak I had to lay off from work. My doctor told me to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since then, my grocery list has never been complete without it."—Mr. A. W. Murphy, 1010 16th St., Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

This delicious cereal will give you the same relief. Laboratory tests prove it's safe. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the intestines. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B which tones the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Just eat two tablespoons daily. Serve as a cereal or cook in appetizing recipes. Isn't this natural food better than pills and drugs?

When you're at the grocery store today, get a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Try it a week, and see if you don't feel worlds better. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

COLLEGE OF BISHOPS WILL MEET AT EMORY

Session To Take Place During Centennial Celebration at University.

Two Methodist leaders, William F. Quillian, general secretary of the general board of Christian education, and Bishop Edwin DuBose Mouson, senior of the College of Bishops, will appear on the Emory University centennial program, university officials announced yesterday.

Dr. Quillian, former president of Wesleyan College, now a resident of Nashville, Tenn., will deliver a sermon on Sunday, December 7, at Glenn Memorial on "The Mind of Christ." Bishop Mouson will preach the centennial sermon on December 13. With him will appear the entire College of Bishops of the Southern Methodist church. The College of Bishops will hold its semi-annual meeting in Atlanta that week end. The appearance of the Methodist dignitaries on the Emory program will be the first time in many years that the College of Bishops has appeared publicly in Atlanta.

The official meeting of the College of Bishops, which is the presiding body of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be held in executive session.

Members of the college are Bishops Mouson of Charlotte, N. C.; John Monroe Moore of Dallas, Texas; Urban Valentine Williams of Lexington, Va.; William Newman Ainsworth of Macon; James Cannon Jr., of Washington; Samuel Ross Hay, of Houston, Texas; Hoyt McWhorter Dobbs, of Shreveport, La.; Hiram Abiff Boa, of Fort Worth, Texas; Arthur James Moore, of San Antonio, Texas; Paul Bentley Kern, of Greensboro, N. C.; and Angie Frank Smith, of Houston, Texas.

The centennial celebration will begin at Emory on December 4. On December 10, the 100th anniversary of the chartering of the institution, a historic bell on the campus of old Emory College at Oxford, Ga., will ring 100 times. An electric impulse from the office of President Harvey W. Cox on the university campus in Atlanta will give the signal for the bell to start ringing in Emory's second century.

SERIOUS CHARGES

United States naval officers appearing before a subcommittee of the senate testified that quarters for American officers at naval bases in the Canal Zone were so poor that they had to live some distance from their posts of duty, and that it was necessary for wives of officers and enlisted men to pass through the restricted vice district of Colon City to reach the commissary.

Captain John S. McClane, commanding the fleet air base at Coco Solo, made the statement that the families of 21 officers and 183 enlisted men have for these reasons to live away from their posts, and Captain Guy Davis testified that conditions were such that many wives of navy men had to be returned to the United States because of physical and mental breakdown due to improper living conditions in Colon.

Captain William Baggeley, chief of staff of the 15th naval district, reports that the deplorable condition has been reported to the Navy Department year after year, but apparently no attempt has been made to correct matters.

When officers and enlisted men are sent to far-off and often undesirable locations in the performance of their duty, every reasonable provision should be made for the comfort and health of their families.

Many of the most reliable officers and enlisted men are married and have families, and when they are shifted to out-of-the-way stations for long periods they have a right to have the comforts of home life. Even the highest naval officers are not recipients of salaries large enough to maintain homes for their families adjacent to foreign-duty posts. Thus they must leave them in the United States or else pay for their support out of personal funds, if they are able to do so.

Private corporations make ample provisions for employees whose work takes them to posts similar in character to foreign-duty naval stations, because it adds to the morale and efficiency of the men employed. Certainly the naval officers who are sent to the four corners of the world to represent the United States and to protect American citizens in times of danger should receive the same consideration.

The amazing charges voiced before the senate investigating committee demand an unprejudiced investigation of their accuracy. If found true, not only should the conditions complained of be eliminated, but those responsible in the Navy Department for their continued existence should be disciplined.

UNIVERSITY NIGHT CLUB

Iowa, the state where the tall corn grows, has provided an innovation in college life designed to protect the students of both sexes attending the University of Iowa from the destructive influence of road-house dance halls and places of entertainment where the juice of fermented corn and other intoxicants are sold indiscriminately to any one who has the price. A university-operated night club, with all the attractions of a whoopee palace, excepting intoxicants of any nature, has been opened under student management, with the approval of the college authorities.

The idea of Jess Gorkin, editor of the university newspaper, for which he campaigned through that journal until the faculty became convinced of its worth, was inaugurated with the approval of more than 1,000 students. The Memorial Union cafeteria was turned into the "Silver Shadow," with luxurious decorations, a dance floor and tables; good food and anything in the line of a soft drink was provided, and 110 couples of formally dressed collegians packed the place so tight the first night that the proverbial "shoe horn" illustration became appropriate.

Presiding over the "Silver Shadow" was Professor Rufus Fitzgerald, a southerner who is director of student entertainment at the university, and he was apparently as excited and pleased as any Broadway producer at a first-night success, and the entertainment he provided won the hearty approval of his audience.

Iowa's innovation will be observed with interest by other institutions of learning. If successful in keeping the students of the institution away from places carrying a threat to their moral and physical stamina, many colleges throughout the country are certain to try the same experiment.

FRENCH TALK DEBT PAYMENT

The recent move sponsored in the French chamber of deputies by Deputy Rene Richard to reopen negotiations with the American government, looking to resumption of payments of the war debt to the United States, reflects the evident desire of Premier Blum's Socialist government—a desire born of France's critical position in the turmoil of European affairs—to remove the stigma of being regarded as a welsber by America.

The need for France to tighten the ties with America because of the increasing European war peril has been voiced frequently by French politicians and press, and the present suggestion comes at a time when sentiment is rapidly increasing for some amicable settlement of the debt issue.

When Premier Blum took office as France's first Socialist premier, he deplored the "misunderstanding" between the United States and France over the situation, and Paul Reynaud, rightist leader and former finance minister, declared the French defaults were "unwise," and proposed resumption of payments to insure "friendship and co-operation" between France and the United States.

Back in the post-war days when France was flushed with the allied victory over Germany, and believed that country crushed beyond ever again becoming a world power and a menace to her safety, she washed on paying a debt of over $4,000,000,000 and led the way for other European nations to join the ranks of defaulters.

Today Germany is rearming with a rapidity that will soon make her as powerful as she was in 1914; she is on amicable terms with Italy and there may be a secret understanding between the Fascist and Nazi nations, while she has effected an offensive and defensive alliance with Japan. Great Britain holds aloof, and at every new move by other powers rattles the bones of the defunct League of Nations and shifts her sea craft from point to point in strategic moves.

France is in desperate need of friends; Russia, her open ally, is menaced in the Far East by Japan and on the west by Germany; she has lost most of her influence with the Balkan states and they are, at best, an unreliable factor in an emergency. So France again turns to Uncle Sam, as she did in 1917.

But America will not be so easily won again. If France really wants to resume payment on her war debt—good! We will take it, because it is a just debt; but so far as lending France any more money, or getting involved in another European conflict the Paris government will learn that we are no longer of a mind to come to the rescue of a self and selfish self-centered nations of Europe.

TO PARK, OR NOT TO PARK

The present agitation for a test of parking meters on the streets of Atlanta, coupled with the suggestion of Councilman William G. Hastings, legislator-elect, for a non-parking "loop" in downtown Atlanta, again centers attention on the growing problem of traffic congestion on the narrow streets of the city's business center.

Public attention to the problem is also made acute by the fact that parked cars on both sides of Broad street hampered operations of the fire department in handling the Cable Piano building fire, and when the flaming hazard to life and property became so great that a general alarm brought out additional equipment, parked cars on adjacent streets hindered this aid in expeditiously getting into action.

Aside from the fire hazard, there is the every-day traffic congestion that continually grows. It matters not whether a car is parked for five minutes, or the limit allowed by law; as one car moves out, another moves into the vacated place—so there is a continual line on both sides of the street, the only vacancies occurring where the curb bears the yellow non-parking sign.

There is ample argument for parking on streets in the downtown district, and also ample argument against it. Certainly the present situation, which finds many motorists ignoring the parking time limits and others violating non-parking regulations, is growing intolerable.

The Lord Mayor's Banquet

London's chief citizen begins the year on November 9 with a banquet and the year virtually amounts to a continuous stretch of dining in public. The only lord mayor who refused to dine out was Sir John Brunne and he told Queen Elizabeth that of excuse that "he was not able to bear the pains required for the feast."

Pain was possibly an accurate expression in relation to the immense Guildhall banquets, which would extend to as many as 48 courses. However, some of the lords mayor did tolerate well at those luncheons. One writer records in the middle of the seventeenth century that he could not but be noticing with much elation the lord mayor tackled soup, fish, chicken, roast pork, vegetables, sweet Chilton cheese and biscuits with appropriate wines. An attendant came, while the chief magistrate was tearing the flesh off a turkey bone to tell him that the court of common council was waiting, to which his lordship replied, "Let them wait till I have finished." He thereupon added: "It is said that more men die of surfeit than of starvation, but that's all nonsense. I shall eat twice as much as this tonight at the banquet, and if you will allow me I will show you how I do it."

He then rose, went through a series of exercises (in the king's presence) and ended up by saying: "If you do this night and morning you will be able to eat as much as I do."

Functionaries charged with the seating of guests at lord mayor's banquets have a heavy responsibility. There have been some awkward moments in the past over questions of precedence. Noblesse oblige, however, through that terrible embarrassment that once occurred when the duke of Cambridge entered and looking at the chair that had been set for him remarked: "I am damned if I'm going to sit there!" And neither would he.

Plums for Lawyers.

Whoever goes without work in Germany this winter will surely not be the lawyers. The tendency in most countries in recent times has been in the direction of trying to simplify the criminal code; in Germany the code seems to be growing more and more complex. "Preparing to commit a murder, whether the murder is carried out or not," seems to offer considerable opportunities for discussion. If a man is seen sharpening an ax by a river, he is not denounced by a judge as "preparing to commit a murder," especially if he just has had words with his wife; "inciting a person to commit suicide" is another crime with endless possibilities.

I could say that charge almost right now myself against such men as Herman Hancock and Ralph Jones. Were it not that I have a sincere belief in their literary abilities, I would. "Quoting offensive matter dug up from past history, whether true or not," should set the German judge rubbing their hands, for the definition of "offensive matter" from the past should bring plenty of money into the pockets of lawyers, besides producing some curious history-books.

Good Morning.

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

E. M. "Bo" Hudson, chairman of the prudential committee of the Druid Hills Baptist church and president of the Homassassa Fishing Club, took me from Savannah to Homassassa for a few days' angling. I don't suppose that many of you have ever seen Homassassa. You have to see it to have any sort of idea of the privilege which has been mine these last few days.

But before I say a word about Homassassa, let me refer to our stopover at Leesburg for a day and night fishing on Lake Griffin with Dr. Holland and Dr. T. C. Davidson. Lake Griffin and Lake Harris are twin bodies of water in a very large, one county—the big brothers of the family. Man, man! On these before-dawn light on Lake Griffin—ducks flying in the sky—fishing boats on the water—against a background of blue hills—quail calling to one another across the shimmering waters—a boatman silhouetted against a near-by horizon! Sunrise! Mr. Hudson playing an eight-pound bass in the deep, blue lake!

Homassassa is like another world—a brimming river, flowing noiselessly out of the bosom of the great earth, winding its peaceful way through stately palms and quiet cypress trees and on to the throbbing pulsing heart of the city. And here, in friendly banks, like lace-lined robes in a baby's cradle, are myriad stretches of hazy hills and lilies. From the flowers of many and many a lift up their pretty faces, unmindful of autumn's warning winds.

Orange trees, grapefruit trees, (and I don't recall all the names) are golden bounties make happy pathways amid the virgin forests. Little clearings for gardens and pastures add agreeable touches of life and there, amid the green, sweeping vistas, are marsh, relieved by lonely palm trees, and then the moss-strewn rocks, washed by surging tides that never cease to tumble.

On one side of the river a little village where the fishermen live—old, old houses—wide lawns—picket fences with swinging gates—shepherd dogs watching the little children near the river—old, old men, leaning against the gnarled old trees—birds singing in the branches—old, old men, leaning against the gnarled old trees—birds singing in the branches—old, old men, leaning against the gnarled old trees—birds singing in the branches.

Homassassa—another world—quiet, happy Homassassa!

Nonchalant.

A young man and woman entered a Pullman sleeper and were immediately put down by other passengers as a bridal couple. But the young pair were so self-possessed that the other began to doubt if their sunrise was right, after all.

As the train moved out of the station, however, the young man rose to remove his overcoat, and a shower of confetti fell onto the floor.

The other occupants of the car smiled broadly, but the young man was equal to the occasion.

Turning to his partner, he remarked loudly: "I've taken the bridegroom's overcoat by mistake."

Correct!

The teacher had asked her class to write a short composition on the subject, "Water."

One scholar seemed to be having difficulty, but finally he turned in his paper, and here is what he wrote:

"Water is a light-colored, wet liquid which turns dark when you wash in it."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

BRAKES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Mild gloom hints are now coming from the anonymous official New Deal spokesmen. They have switched their feet from the accelerator to the brake.

Simultaneously, stock marketeers have been disturbed by Washington rumors. Most disturbing is the one that the President is against all stock trading, considers it gambling and will continue to punish it. This one probably grows out of the fact that SEC and FRB have been getting hard-boiled. Equally disturbing are the unsubstantiated rumors that the capital gains tax will be altered. Then, on top of these two, they are reviving that old one about a war in Europe, which will upset things here.

Both the talk and the rumors are probably not as serious as they seem. The New Dealers are up against the problem of keeping a rising business situation from rising too fast and getting out of hand. They seem to be just talking it down instead of up, temporarily, for that laudable purpose.

PRICES

What disturbs them is that prices are going up, not stock market prices, but everything else.

An official canvass shows that every major category of prices, except electrical equipment, has registered an increase since election.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has officially announced that wholesale commodity prices increased nearly 1 per cent during the single week of November 14. This is a tremendous lift for a broad price table which generally fluctuates in tenths of 1 per cent. It brought the general commodity price level to the highest point since 1926.

This level was 2 per cent above the same week last year. Farm products were up nearly 10 per cent above a year ago; miscellaneous commodities 9 per cent; foods off 1.6 per cent.

The extent of the increases in that one week was 2.5 per cent for semi-manufactured articles; food 1.1 per cent; finished products 0.6 per cent; industrial 2.3 per cent.

What the New Dealers are afraid of is that prices will go too high and curtail buying. But prices seem to be fairly well established so far on a basis of new buying demand, and there is some question whether they can be effectively checked either by hints, official talk or otherwise.

Note—Add to this fact that the greatest Christmas business in history is expected; that the new tax bill is forcing corporation money into wages and dividends, which should stimulate spending, if not investment; that political bickering has been removed from the national picture; that businessmen are bent on co-operating with the New Deal even if it kills them; that popular psychology is now more buoyant.

AAA PLANS Just before President Roosevelt left to fish for peace and barracuda in southern waters, he called in his farm advisers for a private conference. It was more than halfway agreed then that the President would call important agricultural leaders of the country to Washington for a period of several days to frame new agricultural legislation. The call will probably be sent out through Agriculture Secretary Wallace after congress meets in January.

The idea will be to get the farm leaders who sent the heaviest pressure on congress to gather in the right place to express their views for a new AAA program. This is the way the original AAA was accepted in March, 1933.

The new program will come ostensibly from the farmers, as it did before, but the men who pull the wires now have a fairly good hint of what it will be, because they will draft it and hand it over to some farm organization to sponsor. This also has been done before. After the AAA was invalidated, the farm leaders were called to Washington and suggested the soil conservation remedy prepared by AAA Administrator Chester Davis.

Therefore, there is reason for believing that the agricultural leaders will not recommend a constitutional amendment, but will urge a change in the soil conservation act so that federal control will be maintained. They will probably also favor production control.

CROP INSURANCE The only people taking an interest in crop insurance at present are the wheat farmers in the so-called semi-arid regions. In those regions the farmers usually get only one or two good crops out of five, so they are naturally interested in insurance. Also, when they get a good crop, the price is low. They usually have no wheat when the price is high.

The AAA crowd seems to be resigned to trying the plan on wheat alone for the first year, realizing that these semi-arid farmers are probably the only ones who will join up to any great extent.

You hear very much less here about crop insurance since the campaign is over.

Second Athens

Poetium Rivals Acropolis.

NAPLES, Italy, Nov. 26.—Sixty miles from Naples stand the splendid ruins of Paestum, once the desolate center of a great malarial region but today the rival of Rome and Pompeii in the eyes of those who come to Italy to see the glories of ancient times.

Paestum, all authorities agree, has the finest Greek architecture outside of Athens. Founded 25 centuries ago by Sibarites and a colony of Greeks, it was dedicated to the sea god Poseidon, whose temple still stands.

Two centuries ago the great Hannibal descended with his troops on Italy, bringing in the blood of his soldiers from Spain and Africa the storm of malaria. This first infected the mosquitoes of the region and was passed on by them to the Romans. Slowly the infiltration of this disease brought about the death of the people, great areas became malarial and were avoided for centuries by travelers as unhealthy. Now under the modern architecture outside of Athens, the ruins of Paestum have been cleaned up and the region has become as healthy as the rest of the peninsula.

Mosquitoes and Saracens combined drove most of the inhabitants of Paestum away a thousand years ago, and during succeeding centuries the beautiful old temples, autumn-tinted with age, were denuded by pillagers. It is possible to find some of the stones today built into the churches of the vicinity, especially at Salerno and Amalfi.

All of the great city of Neptune that exists today consists of three temples: the small temple to Ceres, the goddess of the harvest, the large temple of Neptune and the Basilica, the oldest of the three. To see the ruins of 25 centuries of civilization in the silent solitude of this coast town is still one of the most impressive experiences of thousands of visitors to Europe, and it is usually pointed out as the experience of seeing the Parthenon at Athens.

American tourist writes, "Paestum should be visited only by the deeply reverent in whom appreciation of silence and not to utterance. Almost any talk at Paestum is profane." To stand in the gray twilight or dawn before these exquisite buildings which were erected when Nineveh was destroyed, in the times of Nebuchadnezzar, is a most impressive experience that the ruins of Pompeii or even Rome seem pale and tawdry in comparison.

Associated in man's thought of the ancient grandeur of this city is the fact that it was one of flowers. Martial 19 centuries ago spoke of sending violets of Paestum as Englishmen to-day speak of carrying coils to Newcastle, while Virgil tells "how Paestum's roses were a year named."

Visitors to the museum-long Hans Christian Andersen at Odense in Denmark may see in one of its glass exhibition cases withered flowers which the famous story teller collected on his travels. Alongside one he plucked from Goethe's birch lies a little flower with this tag, "Given me by a girl at Paestum."

Although Paestum was a weedy wilderness for centuries, the modern revival of

RIDING THE CIRCUIT AT THE METHODIST CONFERENCE

BY THOS. M. ELLIOTT

Bishop Ainsworth, who conducted the South Georgia Conference last week at Columbus, brings glowing reports of progress made during the year by the South Georgia Methodists. In the matter of finances he says that conference this year paid pastors and presiding elders the sum of $342,979, which is an increase of $12,145 above the year before. The apportionment for benevolences for that conference was $92,107, while the sum of $95,496 was paid, making an increase for the year of $1,001. Accessions to the churches on profession of faith by new converts, 3,991. Grand total of all benevolences raised for all purposes by the South Georgia Conference this year, $906,015, making an increase of $20,781 above the grand total for 1935.

Emory University's Growth.
Announcement is made in connection with Emory University's centennial celebration that the university's growth since 1915, when it was organized as a university, has increased five-fold. Property values have grown from $2,000,000 to $11,000,000; enrollment from 600 to 1,805 last year; library volumes from 25,000 to 135,525. Income for the last scholastic year, $94,287; expenditures, including hospital, $93,473. Special gifts last year amounted to $87,590. Income from endowment investments of the university showed an increase the past year, it was stated.

Fathers, Sons, Brothers.
In the membership of the North Georgia Conference there are numerous groups of interesting family relationships.

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 8 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatism, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

17,000 Jobless Preachers.
Press associations carried the report recently that, among the unemployed in the United States at this time, there are 17,000 ministers of the gospel without congregations. That means that 17,000 men who have felt the divine urge to preach, and who have prepared themselves in educational, qualifications and consecrated their lives to that work, have no call to any congregation, or designated opportunity for employment of their powers. It is to be noted that, among the 17,000 unemployed preachers, there is not one Methodist preacher in the number. Methodist itinerant system is so perfect that no minister affiliated with a conference, in health, educationally qualified, acceptable in character, wanting a congregation is without one. And it also means that no congregation in the Methodist system, that wants a preacher and pledges to support one, is without a pastor. The system of Georgia alone has many hundreds of churches pastors and pastorless churches; but you observe none of them are Methodist churches. The system seems effective in getting the preacher and the people together from year to year, with infinitesimal friction, no TNT explosions, and never any lawsuits. Jahesh Gilead says it may be possible to surpass the Methodist itinerant system, but it has never been done yet. And so it is.

Dr. Charles O. Jones Missed.
Dr. Charles O. Jones, who has been an itinerant Methodist minister for 65 years, and who never before missed a conference roll call, is sorely missed at the conference session. Feeble health and dizziness prevent Dr. Jones attending at this time, as well as his inability to sit for a great while in a crowded room. During his long ministry Dr. Jones has exerted a great influence, especially in connection with temperance work. No man in the conference is held in higher esteem by his brethren than is Dr. Jones, and none would be so true to him as Dr. Jones. The conference will, no doubt, remember him in a special way.

Moratorium Too Short.
Jahesh Gilead, delegate-at-large from the rural district, attending the Methodist annual conference, says the proposed two-year moratorium on preaching is too short a time for some of the preaching done these days. Uncle Jahesh says he is tired of hearing sermons on "A Young Woman in an Old Man's Lap," "God's Wash Pot," "Boiling Oats." He says that sermons have been preached in Georgia this year on these silly subjects. Relating another observation, Uncle Jahesh said, "On the first Sunday in November this fall I noticed where two Atlanta preachers were going to preach on identical the same subject. And next Sunday I saw where two Preachers, one Methodist, one Baptist and one Campbellite were all going to preach on that same identical subject. I reckon they all had gotten hold of the same book."

Thirty-two Years.
For 32 years the writer of these notes has been a member of the North Georgia Conference. He has observed the annual conference, the annual church matters during that time. Thirty-two years ago a young man could be received into the conference, if he had the elements of an English education; today he must have four years of college work before being admitted on trial. Emphasis on mental cultivation has displaced the flaming heart. In 32 years he has observed the growing of a church within the church, as the organizations fostered by the Sunday school and the woman's missionary society have been enlarged and developed. Emphasis on these has been stressed until loyalty to them occupies the time and attention formerly given the church. As a result the pastor is very frequently left to himself to promote the real evangelism of the church, as the proponents of the two organizations named judge themselves to have served sufficiently in their subsidiary organizations. In 32 years he has observed religious education promoted to the extreme, while insistence on heartfelt conversion has faded into almost a whisper. He has observed the soft-pedaling by the pulpit on worldliness, with the consequence that now one cannot with a microscope discern the line of demarcation between the nominal church and the world. He has observed the growing practice of sermons based on objects and topics, rather than on ex-needed. The bountiful and sufficient earth under the touch of inventive genius and scientific skill can produce an abundance for the whole human family, but any civilization that puts the supreme emphasis upon the possession of more things is going on the rocks. The things our civilization must already crumble under the weight of, and we are now feverishly trying to repair a tottering materialism with more materialism. It can't be done.

Deeper Trouble.
"The deeper trouble is in the soul of man and the spirit of the race that handles the machinery of modern life. Much of the reconstruction has been done in the moral currency. Strong drink is slaying our youth by the million and the administration that stabs the temperance movement of a century is doing nothing to curb the beast that is let loose in the land. Divorce is a national scandal and other states now vie with Nevada in their contempt of the marital laws of God. Gambling was never so prevalent as it is today. The Sabbath is all but obsolete. We have forgotten that righteousness exalts a nation and that the righteous God will wiper the boasted civilization of any people that renounce his judgments."

"Any philosophy of life that vacates God and depreciates the soul drains off the reservoirs of character. This is going on today. As much as we need some new economic reorganization, the paramount need of today is a new world direction and it is back toward God and the spiritual content and meaning of life."

The annual conference, which meets in Atlanta for its 234 sitting, will continue in session until next Monday noon, according to the desire of Bishop Ainsworth and requests of Atlanta pastors. For the last seven years the conference has been adjourning late Sunday afternoon; but Bishop Ainsworth is desirous of avoiding so much traveling on Sunday and is making his plans to adjourn conference Monday morning just before noon. Atlanta pastors, also, complain that conference adjournment Sunday afternoon confines their church services for Sunday evenings and request that adjournment be reached Monday morning.

Plan Monday Close.
Just what development may be reached by the conference during the remainder of the week is unknown. Bishop Ainsworth clearly stated his purpose to continue till Monday morning.

It was learned that the cabinet work, done by the bishop and presiding elders in arranging the appointments, is practically complete. That being the case, routine business may be disposed of in such manner, as adjournment may be reached Sunday afternoon. Last year, the conference beginning on Thursday night business was so handled that one entire evening was left unoccupied. It is believed the same experience may be repeated this year.

The conference board of laymen's activities renamed Dr. I. S. Ingram, of Carrollton, conference lay leader for his fourth year. Associated with full will not mean so much as it did last year, he said.

Four new homes for superannuated Methodist preachers have been secured this year, said Rev. R. A. Edmondson, in charge of this work in the North Georgia conference. An additional home is now in process of construction at Milledgeville. Property valuation for all the homes is said to be $125,000.

Mr. Edmondson, who has been agent for the homes for seven years, says homes will be provided for men who may superannuate at this conference, and those who need them. Under his management homes have been secured at the following cities: Atlanta 6; Decatur 3; College Park 3; Griffin 3; Oxford 2; Hapeville 2; and one each at Salem, Smyrna, Jonesboro, Eatonton, Thomson, Woodstock, Luthersville, Carrollton, Calhoun, Villa Rica, Chamblee, McDonough, West Point, Toccoa, Washington, Marietta and Point Peter. The fascists advanced in a four-hour hand grenade battle to the Clinic hospital in University City. The government later announced it had surrounded the Rebels on three sides and that their position was precarious.

At Barcelona Consul General Perkins advised Americans to leave aboard the U. S. S. Raleigh which is to call there today.

Norway instructed its minister at Lisbon, Portugal, to protest seizure of two Norwegian steamers by the Insurgents.

The Norwegian government charged the ships were stopped and potatoes confiscated while they were en route to Valencia, Spanish government-held port.

76 AMERICANS FLEE FROM MADRID

MADRID, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Twenty-two Americans within beleaguered Madrid ate beans and sardines on this cold Thanksgiving Day while 76 fellow citizens fled through the rain to Valencia and escape from shot and shell of civil war.

Bursting hand grenades and artillery fire marked a Fascist advance in University City suburb as the Americans sat down to their plain fare—a far cry from the traditional turkey festival of the Pilgrim Fathers.

The 22 Americans, a dozen of them from the United States, dined on the white beans and sardines with bread, and had an orange apiece for dessert. Cold chestnuts provided the closest approach to a Thanksgiving menu-piece.

Tried To Sleep.

There was a bit of meat-potato stew for supper and some fruit. Most of the embassy residents tried to devote the day to sleep after a night-long stretch preparing their friends for the Valencia trip.

The 76 who fled the city, including embassy officials, ate omelet, ham and oranges along the roadside. Traveling in buses and private automobiles, they were to board an American warship for transportation from Spain.

The hand grenade battle in the suburbs marked Fascist advance against the Clinic hospital where comrades were marooned by Madrid Socialist forces.

Fascist occupation of the hospital cut between the foreign volunteer brigade fighting for Madrid defenders and socialist batteries near the model prison.

But the government asserted its troops had surrounded the Insurgents on three sides and that their position was precarious. The foreign brigade ceased for the time being, however, its attack against the hospital.

American citizens and others remaining at the United States embassy at their own risk chiefly were busi-

Aimee and Rhea Marshall Forces In Million Dollar Scandal Suit

Associate Pastor of Angelus Temple Says She Wants the Whole Thing To Come Out Without Any Ambiguities.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Two women evangelists—Aimee Semple McPherson and Rhea Crawford Spilva, one-time "Angel of Broadway"—marshaled forces tonight to wage a million-dollar battle around a charge of slander.

Miss Crawford, associate pastor of Angelus temple, filed a $1,080,000 slander suit against Mrs. McPherson with the declaration, "I want the whole thing to come out without any ambiguities whatsoever."

Countered Giles Knight, business manager of Mrs. McPherson: "We may have a million dollars but she won't get a cent of it."

Miss Crawford asserted her determination to conceal nothing when she announced that with her own pen she changed a paragraph in the complaint, striking out the words "a high state official" to make the quotation she charged as emanating from Aimee read:

"She may have been good enough to have been a governor's mistress, but no woman of her kind is going to use my platform, use my money and wreck my temple and get away with it."

Rhea's legal staff revealed today that the copy of the complaint served last night by Buck Miller, process man, on Aimee as the evangelist was entering the "5000" room of the temple she founded.

Business Manager Knight said of the suit: "When we get through with Rhea Crawford, she won't be in a position to charge slander."

"We will fight the case to a finish," said Willedd Andrews, Aimee's counsel.

Some time ago a $400,000 slander suit against Aimee by Vivian Dunne, one-time publicity woman at the temple, was settled out of court.

RHEBA CRAWFORD BEGAN CAREER HERE
Rheba Crawford, erstwhile "Angel of Broadway" and now complainant in a suit charging slander to Aimee Semple McPherson and asking more than a million dollars in damages, began her public career in Atlanta during the days of the World War.

At that time she was a Salvation Army lassie here, attracting large crowds by her magnetic preaching upon the streets. She was the daughter of Brigadier and Mrs. Crawford, of the Salvation Army, and her father was then in charge of the army's activities in the southeast.

Rheba Crawford, for a few months, was a reporter on The Constitution, resigning from the army to accept this position. Later she entered the army service and was sent to a training college in Pennsylvania. Completing her course there she was assigned to New York.

She drew such crowds to her street meetings on Broadway that the police threatened to arrest her, in the interest of traffic, which was completely blocked by her throngs.

The entire city sprang to her defense and it was at this time she was dubbed, in the newspapers, as "Angel of Broadway."

She later entered evangelical work and again visited Atlanta, where she conducted a series of revival services at the old Congregational church on Carnegie way and at the city auditorium.

and carrying three days' provisions, rode through the vast bushlands of the million-acre cattle domain in search for the Blantons.

Captain McMurray said he was continuing to question Mexicans and others living in the vicinity of the ranch in hope of learning something that might lead to an explanation of the hunters' disappearance.

Santiago Suarez, Mexican consul at Brownsville, has asked rangers to seek an explanation of the disappearance last February of Jesus Rivera, Mexican citizen, and a companion, Reyes Ramirez, while hunting in the same area as that in which the Blantons disappeared.

The Blantons were last seen November 18 when they took shotgun and walked about 300 yards onto ranch property to hunt ducks at a lagoon. Mrs. Blanton said she heard three shots and later some duck feathers were found at the lagoon.

The portion of the King ranch on which the men were last seen is a 120,000-acre tract to which the Atlanta office of New York was reported here.

News of Gate City Told in Paragraphs

Salespeople working part-time and today working full time during Christmas rush will be offered training in salesmanship at the Atlanta Opportunity School. The course will include 15 lessons held daily for an hour or more commencing Monday at 3 o'clock. Fundamentals of selling, stock work and bundle-wrapping will be taught. Registration may be made at the school Monday.

Dr. Charles Henry Rieber, teacher of philosophy, will be a guest lecturer at Atlanta University the week of December 6, it was announced yesterday. Dr. Rieber, during his stay in Atlanta, will address student assemblies and will confer with the faculties of the Atlanta University System. He retired recently as professor of philosophy and director of the College of Letters and Science at the University of California.

Tenth annual Spelman-Morehouse Christmas concert will be given in Sisters' chapel Thursday evening, December 18, at 8 o'clock. Participating in the concert will be the Spelman-Morehouse choruses, numbering 75 students, singing and playing.

Legislator Glee Club and quarter and the glee club of Morehouse College. The concert will be given under the general direction of Kemper Harold and will be open to the general public.

Miss Gene White, 16, of 395 Second avenue, Decatur, was reported last night slightly improved condition at Grady hospital, where she was taken Wednesday suffering from injuries incurred when a car driven, according to police, by Raymond Kendrick, 25, of 541 Highland avenue, N.E., failed to make a curve at First avenue and Cottage grove and turned over into a ditch.

Atlanta police were asked yesterday to be on the lookout for six negroes who escaped Wednesday from the Newnan prison camp by sawing bars on the barracks window. One of the escapes, according to Atlanta police, is a former convict of murder.

Thieves, who gained entrance to the residence of Leonard Godwin, 1101 Berkshire road, late Wednesday night by cutting a screen and forcing a front window, secured clothing and jewelry valued at $639.50. Afterward, the thieves fled, leaving one of the thieves from the rear of the house and gave police his description.

Samuel Geffen will speak on "Religion As An Active Force" at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Shearith Israel synagogue. Joseph Cohen will lead special song services. The Jewish community has been invited to attend.

Charles M. Rogers, of 130 Eleventh street, is reported seriously ill at Georgia Baptist hospital, where he underwent an emergency appendectomy Wednesday.

WOMAN SENTENCED ON SLAYING CHARGE
Mrs. Godwin Weeps as Judge Fixes Term at 10 to 15 Years.

LILLINGTON, N. C., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Sina Pope Godwin, well-known woman, was sentenced late today to serve 10 to 15 years in the state penitentiary for the murder of her third husband.

The defense gave notice of an appeal. She was freed under $5,000 bond. The attractive, 36-year-old brunette who took an active part in directing her defense, went as Judge E. H. Turner pronounced sentence. Her pretty, 16-year-old daughter by a previous marriage, Horrocks Jackson, sobbed aloud as she watched her mother on the stand.

"I have nothing in my heart but pity and sympathy for you," Judge Cramer said. "But it is my painful duty to send you to prison."

Several spectators in the packed courtroom which had been crowded since the trial started Monday, applauded.

The judge originally pronounced sentence at 15 to 20 years and set bond at $7,500 but reduced both after a plea for leniency.

A verdict of second-degree murder, with a recommendation of mercy, was returned by the 12-member jury after deliberating 50 minutes. Solicitor Claude Canda did not press first-degree charges.

The jury found Mrs. Godwin shot and killed Furman E. Godwin, 40, popular farmer and World War veteran, then wounded herself three times to establish a self-defense motive.

WHITE'S 'SCANDALS' OFFERED TONIGHT

Three-Performance Engagement To Open on Stage at Erlanger.

The opening of the 12th edition of George White's "Scandals" occurs on the stage of the Erlanger theater tonight. The engagement terminates on Saturday night.

The new "Scandals" marks the first new production by George White in almost four years.

In two acts and 40 scenes, "Scandals" boasts such popular stage and cinema luminaries as Willie and Eugene Howard and Helen Morgan. Others in the company of more than 100 are George Dewey Washington, Earl Oxford, Stanley Twins, Sam, Ted and Ray, Richard Lane, Estelle Jayne, Gloria Rich and Fred Maunatt. Featured by Russell Patterson and the costumes were created by Charles LeMaire.

Four authors collaborated on the material of "Scandals." Jack Yellen invented the lyrics and Ray Henderson composed the music score. The sketches come from George White and William K. Wells. Russell Markert staged the ensemble numbers. The settings are by Russell Patterson and the costumes were created by Charles LeMaire.

'Can This Be Dixie' Opens For Week at Paramount
Atlanta's Jane Withers scores another hit in the current film, "Can This Be Dixie," which opened yesterday at the Paramount.

Lamar Trotti, also a former Atlantaan, wrote the screenplay for Twentieth Century-Fox. Slim Summerville, who supports Jane in the lead as Dr. Robert E. Lee Gurgle; Helen Wood, the girl; Thomas Beck, the boy; Sarah Haden, Claudia Gilliam; and Donald Cook, the lawyer, are featured.

The southern background of cotton, moonlight and magnolias and mint juleps prevails. Dynamic Jane demonstrates her versatility and wins new laurels with the songs, dances and acting in the picture. She happens along with her uncle, the "Dr." at a plantation that is heavily mortgaged by a distinguished southern colonel and through fast-moving, hilarious series of events, aids in saving the place for the continuing life of the plantation.

She takes a group of the plantation to New York to appear on an amateur program, where they click and land a theater job.

During this part are good and most unusual. A sports reel, Paramount news and cartoon complete the bill.

Thriller of Screen Is Coming to Capitol
Two thousand miles of top-speed thrills aboard the hurtling transport express are promised in "96 Hours to Kill." Fox picture which opens Sunday at the Capitol theater.

Joan Crawford, Gable In New Film at Grand

Those two irresistible lovers of the screen, Joan Crawford and Clark Gable, dash over Europe in a mad love-chase in the new Lew's Grand feature, "Love on the Run," which opened a week's run yesterday.

Love is not the only element in this razzle-dazzle play over the continent, but right behind this couple—the American heiress and a foreign correspondent—are Scotland Yard's ace detectives.

But the plot thickens, for Gable and Crawford must not only escape the police but also they must outwit Franchot Tone, Gable's newspaper buddy, and a gang of international spies.

Comedy and good acting go hand in hand in this picture as the audience is provided with one of the most enjoyable and riotous shows of the current season.

The cinema numbers among its supporting cast some of the best known of the Hollywood actors and actresses. Among them are Reginald Owen, Mona Barrie, Joan Lebedeff, Charles Judels and William Demarest.

Owen plays the part of the melodramatic deep-dyed villain, Baron Spanderman, head of an international spy ring. Gable and Crawford manage to stay one jump ahead of the pursuers and end finding love.

A technical cartoon, a two-reel musical comedy and a double-length newsreel complete the bill.

Gridiron Action Film, 'Rose Bowl,' at Georgia
Football is not child's play in any form—but football, when it comes to the motion picture screen, is one of the toughest assignments any major movie studio gets. It brings new problems, new technical difficulties and new requirements of direction to wrinkle the brow of even the least excitable film official.

Take the problems faced by Paramount in making "Rose Bowl," for example. "Rose Bowl" is one of the year's outstanding gridiron action pictures, opening today at the Georgia theater. In its production, Director Charles Barton created a high-speed picture combining action, thrills, rapid-fire laughs and romance. But

SALESMAN IS SLAIN, AUTO IS BURNED

Earl W. Dollman, of Philadelphia, Killed in Virginia.

SUTTON, W. Va., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Death in a flaming automobile—apparently by violence—forested W. Earl Dollman's Thanksgiving homecoming today, just a few hours after he telephoned the news he was on his way.

The body of the 34-year-old Charleston salesman was found badly burned in his car on a main highway 20 miles from Sutton. His skull had been fractured.

A coroner's jury declared he was slain by a person or persons unknown. Prosecutor James E. Cutlip said: "It obviously is a case of murder. Possibly someone he had picked up along the road struck the young man over the head and then set the car on fire."

"The doctors are of the opinion Dollman was dead before the car was fired."

Dollman, a salesman for a Philadelphia firm (Pioneer Suspender Company) was en route to Charleston to spend the holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Dollman.

Dr. J. C. Eakle and Dr. J. C. Brown performed an autopsy. Cutlip said: "The doctors definitely established the young man was not shot. There was a gun in the car, with two cartridges fired by the hammer and the rest exploded by the heat, but we have established it was a weapon Dollman ordinarily carried in a small compartment for protection."

"There were no bullet wounds in the body and we are certain death resulted from the blow on his head. So far none of the officers have been able to develop a clue that would lead to the slayer."

"The automobile was parked at the side of the road, headed toward Charleston. It was evident it had been carefully parked and there had been no accident."

'Theodora Goes Wild' In Third Rialto Week
Still playing, afternoons and nights, to crowds that fill the Rialto theater to capacity and overflow into the lobby, "Theodora Goes Wild," enters the third week of its engagement, there today. This, latest of the sensational series of special Columbia productions, ranks fully as high in popular appeal and enjoyment as any of the past famous pictures, such as "It Happened One Night," "If You Could Only Cook," "Broadway Bill," etc.

Irene Dunn, in the title role, has displayed an ability as a romantic comedienne that far surpasses the type of emotional acting she has revealed in the past while Melvyn Douglas, male lead, also reveals new capacities in this type of role.

Boleslawski, who directed the picture, has evidently been a close student of the Frank Capra school of picture making for the Capra influence is noticeable throughout. It is a brilliantly clever story of a small-town girl who, under a nom de plume, writes a sensational novel. Her fear of discovery and the outcome when that inevitable discovery happens, makes for continuous laughs, unanimous sympathy and the warm glow that comes to every heart when characters are really like, in a story that really delights, achieve the triumph you wish for them.

Rangers Scan Skies for Buzzards To Lead to Bodies of Lost Hunters

SAN PERLITA, Texas, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Convinced the men are dead, rangers scanned the sky for circling buzzards today in their efforts to find the bodies of two hunters who disappeared last week after entering the ranch to hunt ducks.

They were either killed and taken off the ranch, or taken off the ranch and killed, the ranger said he believed.

"It isn't reasonable that they could have been killed. They disappeared a week ago after entering the ranch to hunt ducks."

A party of six mounted men, led by Constable Ernest Oakes, of Sebastopol, appeared mysteriously on the vast King ranch.

Ranger Captain Bill McMurray expressed conviction that the missing hunters, Luther and John Blanton, had been killed. They disappeared a week ago after entering the ranch to hunt ducks.

They were either killed and taken off the ranch, or taken off the ranch and killed, the ranger said he believed.

WARM SPRINGS DINNER GETS F. D. R. GREETING

Governor-Elect Rivers Represents Georgia at Thanksgiving Feast.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 26.—Greetings from President Roosevelt featured the annual Thanksgiving party and dinner held here tonight at the Warm Springs Foundation.

Although the President was not present, missing the annual event for the first time in years, he radiogrammed greetings from the United States cruiser Indianapolis, on which he is en route to the inter-American peace conference at Buenos Aires.

The President's message, sent from off Trinidad, said:

"Every good wish to all of the members of the Warm Springs family, old and new. I am deeply sorry to miss the Thanksgiving party." Signed, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

More than 500 patients and guests, including leaders of the state, attended the dinner.

Basil O'Connor, treasurer of the Foundation and chairman of the executive committee, was toastmaster.

Among distinguished guests were Governor-elect Rivers, representing the state of Georgia, who sat on Mr. O'Connor's right.

"I want to take this opportunity to extend holiday greetings to all of the foundation," said the governor-elect.

"It is a happy occasion for me to be here and to help carry on in the absence of our beloved President, who would be here save for the fact he is on his way to South America."

Mrs. Rivers and Miss Jerry Rivers also attended.

Besides the governor-elect, speakers included Leighton McCarthy, of New York, member of the foundation's board of trustees.

3 HENRY CITIZENS DIE IN ACCIDENTS

Train-Auto Crash Fatal to Ohio Citizen; Explosion Kills McDonough Men.

McDONOUGH, Ga., Nov. 26.—Three persons were killed and one was injured in accidents at two points in Henry county today.

At Stockbridge, near here, a man said to be G. B. Mortimer, of Piqua, Ohio, was killed and his wife was seriously injured when their automobile was struck by a Southern railroad train this morning at a crossing south of the depot. The automobile was badly damaged but the train was not derailed.

Mrs. Mortimer was taken to an Atlanta hospital.

The other accident occurred near McDonough. J. A. Miskie, 66, died tonight in an Atlanta hospital of injuries received this morning, and Ross Thompson, an 18-year-old negro boy, was killed when both were struck by the flywheel of an engine at a railroad pumping station about one mile from town.

The explosion occurred, Roy Pendley, chief of police of McDonough, said, when the men were attempting to start the engine.

Miskie was taken to the Atlanta hospital, where he was suffering from injuries to his head, arms and legs. He died at about 8:30 tonight.

Train-Auto Crash Fatal to Ohio Citizen; Explosion Kills McDonough Men.

McDONOUGH, Ga., Nov. 26.—Three persons were killed and one was injured in accidents at two points in Henry county today.

At Stockbridge, near here, a man said to be G. B. Mortimer, of Piqua, Ohio, was killed and his wife was seriously injured when their automobile was struck by a Southern railroad train this morning at a crossing south of the depot. The automobile was badly damaged but the train was not derailed.

Mrs. Mortimer was taken to an Atlanta hospital.

The other accident occurred near McDonough. J. A. Miskie, 66, died tonight in an Atlanta hospital of injuries received this morning, and Ross Thompson, an 18-year-old negro boy, was killed when both were struck by the flywheel of an engine at a railroad pumping station about one mile from town.

The explosion occurred, Roy Pendley, chief of police of McDonough, said, when the men were attempting to start the engine.

'Bloomer' Girl and Mother Are Reunited

Gloria Berry, left, 14-year-old New York city girl, who ran away from home because her dislike for New York reached a breaking point when her teacher criticized the color of her gym bloomers, is shown as she was reunited with her mother, Mrs. Helen Berry, in Macon yesterday. Gloria, who had been missing from her Manhattan home since October 23, was found in a Macon rooming house.

BARNESVILLE CITIZENS INJURED IN ACCIDENTS

BARNESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lisey are recovering from injuries received when their car was forced from the highway by an approaching car near town Tuesday night. Bad cuts around the face necessitated five stitches for Mrs. Lisey and Mr. Lisey received a broken hand.

Truman Butler, local automobile salesman, was seriously injured when the car he was driving turned over. Mr. Butler suffered internal injuries and is a patient in a hospital at Griffin.

Alabama IS WINNER, AWAITS BID TO BOWL

upset by Georgia, lost in a startling upset to its city rival, New York University, 7-6, and thereby relinquished its last claim to Bowl recognition.

The Kentucky jinx almost claimed Tennessee again as these traditional rivals battled in snow at Nashville, but the fighting sophomores of Major Neyland overcame a 6-0 advantage to close a highly satisfactory season with a 7-4 victory.

Duke, one of the Southern powers, also experienced difficulty with a time-honored foe, going into the fourth quarter deadlocked with North Carolina State at 0-0. The Blue Devils pushed over a pair of touchdowns in the last period to win going away.

On the Pacific Coast, a result which considerably boosted Alabama's chances for a Pasadena trip saw powerful Washington crush Washington State, 40 to 0, thus assuring the Huskies' appearance in the Rose Bowl. It is understood Washington favors Alabama as an opponent.

WALTER L. DONAHOO, 55 DIES AT CARTERSVILLE

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 26.—Walter L. Donahoo, 55, yard conductor for the N. C. & St. L. railroad here, was found dead in the yard about 6 o'clock this afternoon. A physician called to make investigation said death resulted from natural causes.

He is survived by his wife; one son, George; one daughter, Mary, and a large family.

GEER DENIES GUILT IN WOMAN'S DEATH

State Rests in Trial of 62-Year-Old South Georgia Attorney at Dawson.

DAWSON, Ga., Nov. 26.—(AP)—W. I. Geer, 62-year-old attorney, charged with slaying his former secretary, Mrs. Charlie M. a Houston, 22, said he "couldn't" have killed her because he loved her "more than anybody else in the world."

Permitted under Georgia law to make an unsworn statement in his own behalf without subsequent cross-examination, Geer said:

"If I killed her, it was against my wish and at God's command. I am not guilty. I just couldn't kill the person whom I loved more than anybody else in the world."

A tombstone, whose inscription included the words: "She is not dead but sleepeth. I loved her. W. I. G." was introduced in evidence by defense attorneys, who said it was taken from the defendant's cell while he was locked up at Albany, Ga.

The defense put several witnesses on the stand to establish that Geer's mental condition had been unsound prior to the shooting of Mrs. Houston.

Dr. R. C. Swint, Atlanta psychiatrist and former superintendent of the state hospital, said that Geer's mental condition had been unsound prior to the shooting of Mrs. Houston.

Charles Cook, father of the slain woman, in his testimony said of Geer: "He was a man who knew right from wrong the last time I saw him, October, 1936."

"I visited him in jail because I wanted to look him square in the face to see how a man looked who had done me so," Cook testified.

The state rested late in the day after introducing 14 witnesses, including Cook.

The shooting of Mrs. Houston occurred in Colquitt, Ga., last January 8 and the case is being tried on a charge of venue from Miller county to Terrell county.

CELESTOWN, Ga., Nov. 26.—Funeral services for Morgan David Russell, 67, pioneer and prominent resident of Celestown and Polk county, were held from the First Baptist church yesterday morning with Rev. H. H. Stenbridge, pastor, officiating.

Member of a prominent Polk county family and life-long resident of Celestown, Mr. Russell was active in the civic and business life of the community. He had acted as chief of the city council and mayor during his life.

He was a member of the First Baptist church and a Mason.

He was survived by his wife, Wyatt, of Celestown, and Mrs. Gladys Biggs, of Atlanta, and one son, Morgan Russell Jr., of New Orleans; one daughter, Whit Russell, of Celestown, and four sisters, Mrs. D. L. Roberts Sr. and Mrs. Gus Duke, both of Celestown; Mrs. Eva Embury, of Ashburn.

Masonic rites were observed at Greenwood cemetery where interment took place.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Bluford Johnson, 46, died at the residence near Lawrenceville Monday following a lengthy illness. She was a prominent member of the Baptist church.

Survivors are her husband and several children.

The funeral and burial were held Tuesday morning at Haynes Creek church.

MRS. ORA RAMSEY.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Ora Ramsey, 48, died Tuesday night at her home in Madison county, near here, after a two-week illness.

Rites were held today.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. B. Peppers, of Hartwell, and Misses Willie and Sadie Ramsey, of Atlanta, and two sons, L. R. Ramsey, of Neeze, Ga., and Howard Ramsey, of Double Springs, Ala.

INSTITUTE STUDENTS HEAR SPECIAL SERVICE

The Rev. B. R. Holmes, founder and president of Holmes Institute, negro institution, yesterday delivered the principal address to the students at a special Thanksgiving service.

The minister declared Thanksgiving Day attendance in negro churches of the city was not as large as it should be and he contrasted the number of church worshippers with the large crowds at football games, motion picture shows and dances.

"We are not opposed to any kind of enjoyment which does not destroy the teachings of Jesus Christ," said the minister, "but we do disapprove of taking the day and turning it into a day of nonappreciation of its real meaning."

FAIR, CONTINUED COLD FORECAST FOR TODAY

Fair and continued cold was forecast for Atlanta today in spite of the favorable conditions last night for the first snow of the season here.

The weatherman stated that the temperature is expected to start at a low of 28 degrees this morning and above 48 during the day. Yesterday's range was between 27 and 43.

Atlantans glimpsed light snow flurries yesterday afternoon as the Thanksgiving holiday, while heavier snow and extreme cold were reported further north by the weatherman.

E. B. MELL IS ELECTED ATHENS KIWANIS HEAD

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 26.—(AP)—E. B. Mell, principal of Athens high school and for many years a leader in Kiwanis activities, has been elected president of the Athens Kiwanis Club. He succeeds Harry L. Brown, director of the Georgia Extension Service.

G. D. Marckworth, professor at the University of Georgia, was named vice president.

SURVEY ON FIRE NEEDS OF CITY IS PROPOSED

Board Plans Expert Study to Determine New Equipment Essential.

A survey by experts to determine exactly the new fire fighting equipment needed in Atlanta with the view of presenting a request for its purchase to council this year was voted last night by the board of firemen.

The investigation, resulting from the disastrous Cable Piano Company fire, the board will hold a meeting at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon to receive a preliminary report drawn up by a committee composed of Councilman Howard R. Haire, Alderman John W. Ball Jr. and Councilman Mac Bolen.

The firemen, after several hours of discussion last night, will make a decision Sunday on the charges made against the fire department, its criticisms and its recommendations. Chairman W. M. Sutton announced.

Councilman Howard McCutcheon moved to obtain the services of an expert to determine what equipment is necessary immediately

Judge and Mrs. Colquitt Honor Debutante Daughter at Tea-Dance

Judge and Mrs. Walter T. Colquitt formally presented their lovely debutante daughter, Miss Julia Colquitt, to the younger contingent of society at a brilliant tea-dance given yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club and invited 500 guests to meet their daughter.

The color motif of blue and silver was effectively carried out in the ballroom, where the hosts and the honor guests received in front of a mass of handsome palms and ferns, interspersed with colorful blossoms set the debutante by her admiring friends. The columns were draped with blue and silver cellophane and hanging from the eaves of the columns were lanterns made of blue and silver cellophane. Banked back of the lanterns were sheaves of silver ferns and leaves, augmented with quantities of sunflowers. Two large baskets filled with white chrysanthemums were banked at the end of the ballroom and similar flowers were placed on the mantel. The two tea tables were covered with lace cloths and centered by mounds of white roses, fringed with blue leaves shading into silver, that were sent from California for the auspicious occasion. Punch was served in the loggia from two tables that were banked with fruit and autumn leaves. A spotlight from the balcony in the ballroom cast vari-colored lights over the guests when they danced within its magic rays. Mrs. Colquitt received in a handsome gown of black velvet, fashioned with long sleeves of silk marquisette and trimmed with a rhinestone clip. She wore a shoulder cluster of purple orchids.

Miss Colquitt was lovely in a model gown of coronation blue lace, fashioned with a low V-neck in front, short full sleeves and a wide skirt. She wore a shoulder spray of white orchids and carried an old-fashioned bouquet.

President's Peace Journey Presents Wearisome Job for His 'Protectors'

Colonel Starling Must Probe "Every Inch of Space" Covered by Roosevelt; Has Guarded Chief Executive Since 1913.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's South American peace trip has presented new and worrisome problems for Colonel E. W. Starling, his far-traveling and careful-planning protector.

Starling's job as head of the White House secret service involves traveling ahead of the President wherever he goes to make arrangements for the chief executive's protection.

During the recent election campaign he traveled thousands of miles perfecting details in scores of cities for guarding the President and arranging for the transportation of his party—a job he did so well there was not a hitch.

Now he is in Buenos Aires performing the same service. But there he is dealing with foreign authorities. In America his work is law with local police and civil authorities.

Mr. Roosevelt is setting a record as the most widely traveled president. But Starling, moving along with him in advance, then traveling some of it with the President later, has gone even farther.

Probably it would take the colonel—the title is a Kentucky kind—considerable time with an adding machine to figure out just how far he has traveled officially, for he has been at it since 1913, with five presidents.

A rangy, six-footer, amiable and kindly-eyed, yet stern and immovable when occasion demands, Starling has been an advance man on presidential trips since the Wilson administration.

Necessarily he is a diplomat of sorts. He must see to it that no single detail that might risk the life or welfare of the President is overlooked. At the same time he must say "No" tactfully to everyone from governors and senators down to chauffeurs and bellhops.

In a city the President has arranged to visit, Starling usually shows up at least a week ahead of time and over every inch of the route the chief executive will take. He arranges for police, national guardsmen, troops and

TRACE OF FOLSON MAN FOUND IN CALIFORNIA

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Finding of a stone dart point in the Mojave desert led scientists to infer today that the "Folsom man"—North America's first residents who shared giant sloths—may have existed as far west as California.

Dr. L. E. Hardy, director of the San Diego museum, reported the stone dart point is exactly like the points left by the "Folsom man," so-called because they were found in a bed of pebbles some 10,000 years old near Folsom, N. M. Their habit generally was thought to have been east of the Rocky mountains.

ATLANTANS INJURED IN CRASH NEAR MACON

Joseph A. Rabern, of 807 Virginia avenue, and Clyde L. Scott, of 801 Virginia avenue, were injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding collided with another on the highway at Echelon, south of Macon.

Details of the accident were not learned, relatives said.

List of Liquor Orders Seized With 40 Pints

There was a slight mishap in the possession of this Thanksgiving liquor order book.

County police yesterday raided a residence on Fourth street and besides finding 40 pints of fine holiday spirits ready for delivery confiscated the dealer's order book, giving the names and addresses of thirty Atlanta residents who had ordered spirits for their feasts.

The 40 pints were delivered by the police—to headquarters.

A man listed as Dan Morgan was arrested and charged with possession of liquor. He made $200 bond at Fulton tower.

Mrs. Erbe Becomes Bride of Mr. Dobbs In New York City

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Redding Sims announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Nell Sims Erbe, to Samuel Candler Dobbs Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Candler Dobbs, of Atlanta.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Doctor J. M. Sims at the apartment of the bride in New York city. The wedding was attended by the family and a very few close friends.

After a trip Mr. and Mrs. Dobbs will reside at 163 East 81st street, New York. Mr. and Mrs. Dobbs will visit in Atlanta during the Christmas holidays.

Contract Bridge

By E. L. CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract bridge, "The Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

MINIMUM BIDDABLE SUITS.

With rare exceptions a player should not make a free bid in any suit weaker than four cards headed by the jack and at least one higher honor. Minimum: Q J 3 2, K J 3 2, A J 3 2, etc. Five cards headed by the jack (or any higher honor), Minimum: J 5 4 3 2, Q 5 4 3 2, K 5 4 3 2, etc.

These suits are biddable only once. Having made one bid with such a suit, a player should not bid it again unless partner has raised, showing strength in the suit.

A four-card length should not be bid a second time, even when partner has raised it, unless there is no other rebid available. Partner's raise may have been given with only a three-card trump holding, such as Q 8 4, and it is seldom desirable to play a hand with a trump suit in which you hold only seven trumps to the opponents' six. With one more trump in the combined hands of declarer and dummy the advantage is eight to the opponents' five, which is a safe margin of superiority.

TODAY'S HAND.

North dealer. East-West vulnerable.

The bidding:

(1) Three spades would have been the better pre-emptive bid.

East-West vulnerable. In this Culbertson optional double of pre-emptive bids and, therefore, East took his partner's double to be of the penalty variety. Had he been able to foresee that West would defend against four spades like a lame duck, he undoubtedly would have run to five diamonds.

West opened the club king and, from the hurry with which he then tried to cash his tricks, it was obvious that he feared declarer would discard a flock of losers on the hearts. Having noted the fall of East's club ten, he played the ace and, when East failed to follow, a cagey gleam appeared in West's eye. It was easy to see what he was contemplating: he would give East a club ruff. First, however (probably as a supposed precaution), he planked down the diamond ace and that was the beginning of the end.

Declarer ruffed and now did just what misguiding East had foolishly intended to do. He ruffed a club in the dummy, then gave East a diamond ruff. In the folds of a luxurious new dressing gown, slipped on after a hard day's work, there is a comfort and ease, a stability and a grandeur

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

Every Dressing Table Should Boast a Brilliantine in the "Permanent" Days

(The Mignon who writes this column does not sell, endorse or manufacture permanent waves.)

By MIGNON.

Sometimes a very lovely woman can look attractive and be remembered for her "good looks" when all she has to offer in the way of beauty is a beautiful head of hair. There should be no dressing table without a bottle of good brilliantine. By good brilliantine, I mean one that is light in weight and fine in quality. There should also be at least one hairbrush in every dressing-table drawer.

Somewhat, women are afraid to use brilliantine because they think that their hair will get oily, and need a shampoo often than they are used to taking one. Really, they should be ashamed of themselves. If you shampoo your hair yourself you can be sure of a good brushing or go to, a beauty parlor that stresses the value of such a treatment. I am going to talk to the home shampoos and leave it to them to tell their beauty parlor what they want and see that they get it.

After you have had your shampoo and dried your hair, the brilliantine bottle on the palm of your hand. If you don't get enough tip it again. Rub the hands together and then run them over the hair until all the brilliantine is taken up.

Take a brush with good stiff bristles. Divide your hair with a comb from the back to the front and, taking a good sized parcel of it, brush it thoroughly and deeply until it shines and is fluffy.

If you have a permanent wave, as most women without naturally curly hair do have, your hair is not going to get oily in the next hour or two—it is going to get dryer. When it does, repeat this process.

When you feel that your hair is as shiny and full of life and clean as you can get it, dress it to suit yourself. And are you going to thank me after you have tried this for awhile? If you want the name of a good brilliantine I will tell you of one.

MRS. DAN PAPPAS DIES AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

Mrs. Dan Pappas, wife of Dan Pappas, veteran restaurateur of the Ansley hotel and a leading figure of the city's German colony, died yesterday at a private hospital at the age of 65.

A native of Indiana, Mrs. Pappas had been a resident of Atlanta for a number of years.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Sacred Heart church with the Rev. Father John Emmert officiating.

Mrs. Pappas, in addition to her husband, is survived by a daughter, Miss Margaret E. Pappas, a brother, Fred Zogg, Atlanta, and several nieces and nephews.

Burial will be in East View cemetery with Sam R. Greenberg in charge.

FEELINGS OF DEATH DESCRIBED BY DOCTOR

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Dr. Ed Katske, 34, found dead in his apartment today, left behind on the walls of the room an account of his feelings as death approached. Coroner Matt Jaap said Dr. Katske died of an overdose of a narcotic.

The notes said Dr. Katske's eyes grew dim, his heart weaker, that he had difficulty in holding the pencil. Much of the writing was not legible. Jaap said one sentence named the undertaker, Dr. Katske wanted to handle his body.

Big Thanksgiving Feast Is Spread for Turkey

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Today, of all days, one turkey found himself on the receiving end of a Thanksgiving dinner, an inmate of the national zoo. Zoo Director William Mann said:

"For years I have witnessed silently on this day the most one-sided encounter in history—man versus the turkey. We decided something ought to be done to even the score."

So the keepers prepared a spread of especially fine grain and cranberries for Jerry.

Birthday Dance at Standard Club Honors Miss Betty Regenstein

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Regenstein entertained at a dance last evening at the Standard Club in honor of their attractive debutante daughter, Miss Betty Matilda Regenstein. The occasion marked the thirteenth birthday of Miss Regenstein, who is a popular student at Washington University.

The club was artistically decorated for the occasion with autumn foliage, and the background before which the orchestra played, was formed of fall flowers in shades of brown and yellow, carrying out the Thanksgiving motif.

Mr. and Mrs. Regenstein and their young daughter received their guests standing before a screen of palms and ferns. Miss Regenstein wore a lovely model of turquoise blue slipper satin, and she wore a bandeau of yellow rosebuds in her hair. Gracing her shoulder was a bouquet of yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Regenstein was gowned in Dubonnet crepe trimmed with gold, and her flowers were gardenias.

Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Evans Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Howell, Mrs. Bessie Margolin and Miss Mary Grady.

Novel Party Honoring Miss Hart Takes Form of 'Debbies' Hash House

By Sally Forth.

ANNOUNCING the opening of the Debbies' Hash House—that's the way the invitations to Mrs. Julian Thomas' party for Virginia Hart began, and it was just as thrillingly different as that opening sentence. The scene of the night club affair was the country home of the Eugene Harringtons out on Dunwoody road, but you'd never have recognized that rustic retreat Wednesday evening. Turning into the road leading to the house, brilliant spot lights illuminated big signs made of that sparkling stuff you've seen on gaudy theaters, and read, "The Debbies' Hash House." Arriving at the house, the debbies and their dates walked under a long marquee, just like a real night club.

And inside—tables covered with checked cloths all around the walls, with a bottle of wine and a bunch of celery on each table—and looking as much like a cozy little road house as anything you've ever seen. "Hot music" was in full swing over in a corner and was furnished by three dark-skinned musicians going to town on a washboard, a tin pan and a skillet. The hostess, Mrs. Thomas, gowned gaudily for the occasion, welcomed the patrons of her club, and the "head waiter," Mr. Harrington, showed the merry group to their places. Two attractive maids waited on the tables in the persons of Mrs. Harrington and Mrs. Hamilton Hart, mother of the honor guest.

Cute drawings adorned the covers of the menus, and inside, the fare for the evening caused no end of animated discussion, for everybody had to guess what the listed expressions meant. And lots of the gals and boys got something they hadn't ordered—or rather what they thought they hadn't ordered. Anyway, the guessing game was a gobs of fun, but there were certain "Rules of Conduct" listed on the back of the menu cards which were supposed to be adhered to by the guests. For instance, they were told not to criticize the cocktails, for they would be old and weak some day, too.

Topping all these night club activities was the simply stupendous floor show in the form of an amateur contest. And here, boys (Sally knows you read her column), "Mae West" was a knockout. She was all dressed up in glittering blue sequins, and she sang "St. Louis Blues" in the usual West manner—need Sally explain? She turned out to be the lovely blond Virginia Hart. With dash and confidence, she deglanned delighted her audience by going into her dance as an apache. There were lots of other swell entertainers, too, and if Sally had the space she would tell you about each of them.

One of the acts presented a mind reader, who promised to answer all questions written on slips of paper and handed in to him. Of course, everybody hastily scribbled a question, and none other than Dr. Dewey Nabors appeared, and without looking at the slips of paper proceeded to call out names and give appropriate answers. No, Sally doesn't know how he does it—that's his secret—but it afforded the guests at this perfectly scrumptious night club plenty of exciting moments.

BLITHE MCKAY, who writes a sparkling column entitled "Parties and Personalities" in the Macon Telegraph and News, carried in her Sunday issue the following paragraph concerning that fanciful and well-known Georgian, Colonel Telamon Cuyler:

"Colonel Telamon Cuyler is entertaining interesting visitors at his country home, Wyche, in Jones county, his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Spear French, who are stopping with him en route by motor from their home, La Casita Rancho, near Tucson, Ariz., to New York."

Mrs. French is the former Miss Cuyler Nicol, a great-granddaughter of Hon. Richard P. Cuyler, president of the Central of Georgia railway for 23 years, and of his wife, Mississippi Gordon, who was a sister to Hon. William W. Gordon, first president of the Central railway.

Mrs. French's younger sister, Miss Alma Nicol, is a debutante this season in New York city, is a member of the Junior League and the Junior Assembly which was founded by the late Ward McAllister, of Savannah and New York. Mr. and Mrs. French will also visit in Savannah while in Georgia.

Birmingham Visitors Honored at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meyer, of Birmingham, who were numbered among prominent visitors in Atlanta this week, were central figures Monday at the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Paine.

The affair was given at the Peachtree Battle avenue home of the hostess. The table was covered with a real lace cloth and was centered by a silver bowl filled with quantities of brightly colored flowers, carrying out the Thanksgiving color motif. All the appointments were of silver.

Miss Cogswell Feted.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward S. Wright entertained 70 friends at an appetizing party yesterday afternoon at their home on Collier road, the occasion honoring their attractive guest, Miss Eugenia Cogswell, of Greenville, S. C.

Yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums were used as decoration throughout the apartment. The tea table was covered with a white lace cloth, centered by a mound of fruit and autumn leaves. Silver candlesticks held yellow tapers and placed at intervals on the table were miniature figures of turkeys, which have been in the hostess' family over 100 years.

Miss Emily Gower Foard-Jones Rites Solemnized At Park Street Methodist Church

Weds Mr. Symmers At Druid Hills Church

A marriage centering the interest of a host of friends and well-wishers, which was solemnized on Thanksgiving at 5 o'clock, Dr. John E. Ellis, of Lakeland, Fla., uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony which was witnessed an assemblage of friends and relatives.

Simplicity and beauty characterized the church decorations, graceful palms, foliage plants bunched on either side of the altar graced the back of the pulpit and formed an effective background for the cathedral candelabra which held glowing white tapers. A central pedestal basket filled with white chrysanthemums and roses completed the altar decorations.

Preceding and during the ceremony a beautiful program of nuptial music was rendered on the organ by Mrs. Clyde E. Withers. Acting as ushers were the brothers of the groom, Douglas and Herbert Symmers, Mrs. Lowry A. Sims, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and only attendant.

She was lovely in a gown of fuchsia velvet, made along becoming lines. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of talisman roses showered with snapdragons.

The bride was accompanied to the altar by her father, Robert H. Gower, by whom she was given in marriage, and where they were met by the groom and his best man, Robert E. Hastings Jr. The bride whose beauty is of the brunet type is possessed of an unusual sweetness of manner and is admired and beloved by a host of friends. The bride made a charming picture in her gown of tulle and blue velvet with close-fitting bodice and long flare skirt, which was particularly becoming to her slender figure. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses, a corsage of gardenias and valley lilies.

Mrs. Gower, the bride's mother, wore a gown of black crepe combined with silver metal cloth, she carried a corsage of gardenias and valley lilies. Mrs. Robert E. Turner, of Houston, Texas, sister of the groom, wore a gown of black velvet and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Symmers left by motor for a wedding trip. Mrs. Symmers' traveling costume was a three-piece ensemble in hunters green wool and included a jacket suit and a sweater type top coat furled with racoon. She wore a hat of dark green velvet with accessories in matching shades.

Out-of-town guests included Rev. and Mrs. John E. Ellis and Miss Martha Ellis, of Lakeland, Florida; C. B. and W. E. Marshall, of Valdosta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goodwin, of Monroe, La.; W. H. Goodwin and Miss Vallie Goodwin, of Monroe, La.; Miss Susie Griffith, of Macon, Ga.; Marshall Ellis, of Augusta, Ga.; O. S. Gower, of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Mrs. J. W. Thompson and Mrs. Ralph Morris, of Columbus, Ga.; and Mrs. R. B. Turner, of Houston, Texas.

Birmingham Visitors Honored at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meyer, of Birmingham, who were numbered among prominent visitors in Atlanta this week, were central figures Monday at the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Paine.

The affair was given at the Peachtree Battle avenue home of the hostess. The table was covered with a real lace cloth and was centered by a silver bowl filled with quantities of brightly colored flowers, carrying out the Thanksgiving color motif. All the appointments were of silver.

Miss Cogswell Feted.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward S. Wright entertained 70 friends at an appetizing party yesterday afternoon at their home on Collier road, the occasion honoring their attractive guest, Miss Eugenia Cogswell, of Greenville, S. C.

Yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums were used as decoration throughout the apartment. The tea table was covered with a white lace cloth, centered by a mound of fruit and autumn leaves. Silver candlesticks held yellow tapers and placed at intervals on the table were miniature figures of turkeys, which have been in the hostess' family over 100 years.

Miss Lanham Weds Paul Payne Patten At Home Ceremony

At Home Ceremony

Of interest was the marriage Thanksgiving afternoon of Miss Marion Lanham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marion Lanham, to Paul Payne Patten, which was solemnized at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Wesley avenue, in the presence of an assemblage of friends and relatives. Dr. E. T. Wilkins, pastor of the Peachtree Road Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

A musical program was rendered by Miss J. Stephen Hughes, pianist, and J. G. Bentley, vocalist, sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." The improvised altar in the living room was banked with foliage plants and palms and combined with pedestal basket tilled with Easter lilies and pompons and seven-branched candelabra holding burning white tapers.

Miss Carolyn Lanham, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was lovely in a princess model of pale green brocade satin and she carried talisman roses. Little Miss Ann Lou Patten, niece of the groom, who was flower girl, wore a princess model of pink tulle and she carried a nosegay.

Entering with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride was met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Edwin Patten, who was best man. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white satin, made with a tight-fitting jacket of lace which extended in the back to the full length of her long train. Her bridal veil of misty white tulle was held to her hair by orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanham entertained at an informal reception after the ceremony. Assisting in entertaining were Mesdames Hall Patten, Edwin Patten, Luther Hamilton, R. H. Lanham and Misses Ruth Patten, Maybelle Pichard, Maybelle Pichard and Mrs. Curtis. Miss Eleanor Lanham, sister of the bride, kept the bride's book. She wore peach tulle. Mrs. Lanham was handsomely attired in a wine velvet gown and she wore a shoulder bouquet of white roses.

Mr. Patten and his bride left for their wedding trip to Florida and upon their return they will reside with the bride's parents on Wesley avenue. For traveling the bride wore a smart three-piece suit of gray wool, trimmed with Persian lamb and her hat and accessories were gray.

Miss Sara Jenkins Makes Bow At Thanksgiving Breakfast

Paul Payne Patten At Home Ceremony

Miss Sara Jenkins, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Jenkins, made her formal bow to society yesterday at a breakfast party at which her parents were hosts at the Piedmont Driving Club, the affair being one of the most important marking Atlanta's celebration of the Thanksgiving holiday. The occasion assembled a number of society's married and unmarried contingents as well as a group of prominent visitors who are spending the week-end here.

The debutante and her parents received in the ballroom before a background formed of palms, foliage plants and innumerable baskets and bouquets of flowers sent the popular honor guest by her hosts of friends and those of her parents. Giant size yellow chrysanthemums prevailed in the decorations gracing the ballroom, loggia and reception rooms. Baskets of these lovely blooms adorned the tables, buffets, mantels and consoles. Festoons of smilax garlanded the columns of the ballroom and draped the balcony where an orchestra played during the breakfast hours.

Assisting in entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kessnich, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Betty Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Gresham, Mrs. Avers Robert and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kline.

Miss Jenkins is one of the most popular members of Atlanta's 1936 37 Debutantes Club and throughout the winter season she has been feted at numerous social gatherings and on November 6 she made her formal bow to society at the home of her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Collett Munger, reside

Miss Jenkins was attired in marine blue cloth dress with which she wore a smart moleskin jacket. Her hat was a close-fitting model of black velvet trimmed with moleskin and she wore a bouquet of deep purple orchids on her left shoulder.

Miss Jenkins wore a striking ensemble of black wool made with a blouse of emerald green crepe. The long fitted black wool coat was trimmed with a collar of baby lamb fur and she wore a becoming black felt hat of the military type trimmed with baby lamb fur. Her shoulder spray was formed of a trio of delicately tinted orchids.

Mrs. Munger's costume was fashioned of black velvet and she wore a shoulder bouquet of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanham entertained at an informal reception after the ceremony

INSTALLMENT XXVII.

It was too bad that el señor could not go with them and drink, but...ojala! Maybe Pepito had a bottle of tequila to keep Mr. O'Hara company. Pepito did have. He dashed away, shouting at Margarita—who apparently was in the next county. Returned quickly with a tall bottle containing a white liquid, a glass. Set them upon the table; bowed to Shane. Said "Buen salud, señor!"—Good luck, mister!—and he and Jose took their departure.

Jose, his jaw again covered by the blue handkerchief, Pepito trotting beside him, made his way back into the town. On the road he explained the situation to the little man, who trotted and listened and said nothing until Jose's story was told. Then—and his Spanish was admirable:

"Jose, he said, 'I always thought that my cousin and your brother, Sam, was concerned with matters that the law would disapprove of. I have heard it hinted here in Tijuana—also in Mexico—that he was in bad business. As for Rodrigo Gutierrez, who calls himself the Rattlesnake, he is a dangerous man. Of him also I have heard things. Talk of smuggling, opium, Chinese, alcohol. I think we can find the Rattlesnake without much trouble. But when we find him, I think it will be very wise to kill him at once. Quietly and swiftly."

"That is what I have told the American," said Jose, and explained Shane's ideas on this subject. "And so I suppose it must be done his way."

"It is not a good way," said Pepito. "Nevertheless, as you say, that is what the American wants, then that will we do it. I think if we go and sit in the Cafe Espanol and drink a bottle of tequila, we shall find out whether the Rattlesnake is still in town or not. And if he is, perhaps we can discover where he lives."

The Cafe Espanol was not a big cafe. It was popular with the Mexicans; having no orchestra and being on a side street, most visiting Americans never found it. It was a narrow, long room, with partitions turning into one wall, like a real American restaurant, a poolroom in the back, a bar along the other wall. "Hello, Loreto," Pepito greeted the white-aproned bartender, "bring us a bottle of La Viuda Martinez, eh?"

He and Jose seated themselves in one of the little booths, back toward the poolroom, and upon the table between them the bartender set a bottle and two glasses.

Pepito reached a hand in his pocket. Jose topped him.

"Kiss the widow," said Pepito, and handed the bartender a coin representing about one-third of what American visitors paid for a bottle of La Viuda Martinez—"the most popular woman in Mexico," as she was called.

Jose poured two half-tumblerfuls of the fiery stuff.

"Kiss the widow," said Pepito, and raised his glass to his lips.

"Take the rattles off the Rattlesnake," countered Jose, and drank.

Time passed, and the tide in the bottle ebbed. Men came and drank and went out, or came and drank and sat—but the Rattlesnake did not come. Jose grew restless. "Perhaps some other place," he suggested.

"But," said Jose, "I think he will come. I see him here more than any other place. When he gets really drunk he comes here."

Another half hour passed, and the Widow was empty.

Then there came loud voices from the doorway, drunken men shouting, laughing. It grew louder, came into the cafe.

"That," said Pepito, "is the Rattlesnake."

"He knows you?" asked Jose.

"Yes," answered Pepito. "And you?"

"I don't know," replied Jose. "He may have seen me."

"Be on guard then," warned Pepito. "He may pass this way."

Jose adjusted his handkerchief up to his eyes. "I shall sneeze," he said. "If he passes, I have a cold, and also I have a cold knife near my right hand."

"Do not use it," warned Pepito. "Do not think of using it. Not here. And if he stops, remember you are Hernando Monroy, from La Paz, at his service."

But the Rattlesnake and his friends stopped in the front part of the cafe. "Here, bartender," shouted the Rattlesnake. "Attention! Bring drink, much drink. Sit down, friends. Here we will spend the rest of the day—and the night." The idea met with a chorus of approval.

"I think," whispered Pepito, "that he will stay and become very drunk. Let us now return to the house and wait. If the Rattlesnake drinks enough, as he usually does, he will lose his reason. We will meet him when he leaves this place. And when he wakes up he will be much astonished."

"Good," approved Jose. "Tonight we should be able to pull his fangs." They made their way out through the poolroom and the rear door, and returned to Shane waiting for them in the Casa de Pepito.

Around midnight the Rattlesnake and one remaining friend reeled from the Cafe Espanol waving empty bottles.

They staggered down the dark street, talking nonsense.

At last the friend stopped, sat down carefully against a board fence.

"I sleep here," he stated, possibly "Good enough." He slumped over.

The Rattlesnake stood swaying and considering his fallen companion.

Two men, singing with liquor, approached. They came up to the Rattlesnake. They stopped.

"Sing, hombre," commanded one of them to the Rattlesnake. "Can you not sing?"

"Surely I can sing," said the Rattlesnake. "Listen." He opened his mouth and began "La Paloma."

"He's the man we want," said Pepito. "He can sing. Come along, Rodrigo, let us sing to him. To sing and drink tequila. You are certain you can sing?"

The Rattlesnake swore.

"Come on," he stuttered. "Wherever you go, I'll follow you—whether or I can sing." He seized them by their arms, got between them, peered at each face. "Never mind," he told himself. "I don't know you. But you sing—and drink." He began La Paloma again.

And thus Pepito and Jose brought the Rattlesnake to Shane O'Hara, awaiting them at Jose's cousin's ramshackle garage.

A golden sun glinting across the desert country south of Tijuana threw a shaft of light into the window of a small adobe house on an eastern hillside, illuminating thereby a 10-foot square chamber, white-walled, containing a rickety iron bed on which a blond man strained against the cords which held him, cursed wildly, and started about him with eyes red from tequila and vicious from astonishment.

The Rattlesnake's awakening had been most unpleasant.

Assuredly now, he told himself, when consciousness began first to come, this was only a dream from which I will presently awaken. Many times I have had dreams, after drinking, and this is only another one of them. "Toss a coin," I wonder if there is water, after the dream goes away?

But the dream, instead of going away, became clearer and clearer, each part more vivid. Until at last it came to the Rattlesnake that this was no tequila-dream, but some horrible truth.

He could not move. There were ropes about him. Yes, he could see the knots, and his wrists were tied. Not only tied together but tied to a rope which passed between his legs. He raised his arms; the cursed rope pulled around his neck—it ran from his wrists between his legs and up his back, then was noosed around his neck. Struggle would choke him to death. His feet would not move; tied, too.

Nevertheless—but cautiously—he raised his head and chest. But as he could see no more than that way than without rising, he relaxed again.

"This is not the jail," he told himself, noting the ordinary wooden door, closed. His eyes sought the window. No bars. But from just outside it came a casual whistling—"La Paloma."

The Rattlesnake listened to the whistling for a moment. His head arched terribly. His throat was aflame. He must have water, or he would die. Water and a drink of tequila. What had happened last night? He was with friends, at the Cafe Espanol, he recalled. They had spent all evening there, half the night. Then some of them had gone away. He had remained. He and—said—who? Somebody, because they had left the cafe together. Singing, too. Yes, he remembered: they had gone forth singing that cursed song that somebody was now whistling outside the window. And then—then what? Blank. Until now. His head! His throat! Assuredly, he was dead or nearly dead, and in the ante-room of hell. Funny, it had never occurred to him before that hell might be built along the same way as Baja California. But why not? Take water away, flames would be unnecessary.

Then his rambling, jumbled thoughts whisked to another question. Certainly the devil never tied up his victims; he didn't have to. No; he was not dead. Not yet; although assuredly he would be if water was not forthcoming soon. But who—what many curs—had dared to truss up him, the Rattlesnake, like a calf to be branded?

Swiftly he thought of his enemies—and he had many. But this was not what they would do to him, if they could catch him. No; there would have been no question as to whether he was dead or not, in that case. But they were not Tijuana people; all his enemies were in Mexico, Ensenada—maybe one or two in Tecate. Not here.

His throat! Aflame! And his head, bursting. He opened his mouth and shouted.

"Water!" he cried. "You who whistle there! Water, for the love of heaven!"

The whistling stopped. Footsteps, untried. The face of Jose, handkerchief in place, appeared at the window. Looked at the figure of the Rattlesnake with cold and considering eyes.

"You make a lot of noise, hombre," Jose told him.

"Water!" groaned the Rattlesnake. "Water, water... And who are you? And what am I tied up for? Am I...?" His voice broke. "Water," he gasped.

"There is no water," said Jose, calmly. "And I am not going to give you any water."

"What!" screamed the Rattlesnake. "You refuse me a drink? You will let me die? Who are you? What—what does it mean?"

"Ask yourself," said Jose, shrugging. He turned, left the window, resumed whistling as he sat down beneath a stunted tree. In a little while now, Every drinker knows the torture of being unable to get a drink. Had there been a bottle of tequila within reach of the Rattlesnake, or had he been free to seek one, he would have had only a slight discomfort—because relief was only a matter of time. But being tied up, no drink possible, he lost his nerve. His craving increased a hundredfold. Tequila. He must have a drink of tequila. Just one.

And on top of this came something far worse.

With one of those queer transitions which afflict the human mind in pain or terror, it was suddenly not tequila that the Rattlesnake wanted, had to have, would die without—but water.

Alabama Beats Vandy, 14-6; Washington Routs State, 40-0

Plasman, Vandy End, Scores for Commodores Against Alabama

Showing surprising strength, Vanderbilt's Commodores swept to a touchdown early in the first quarter of their game against Alabama in Birmingham yesterday. Alabama came back strong, however, and won the game, 14-6. This picture shows Vanderbilt scoring, Plasman (No.

49 on ground), going over on a 10-yard end-around play. No. 31 is Franklin, Vandy left end. No. 16 is Caldwell, 'Bama halfback.

Pitt Defeats Carnegie Eleven

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The University of Pittsburgh's mighty pigskin Panthers snatched a 21-to-14 triumph out of the bleak Thanksgiving air today after a stalwart Carnegie Tech eleven forced them to uncover all their vaunted power.

Marshall (Biggy) Goldberg, the shifty running sophomore halfback from Elkins, W. Va., rode the surging Pitt tide for touchdown gallops of 33, 42 and six yards in a great individual performance before 25,000 Pittsburgh district fans who braved wind and snow to see the neighborhood rivals in their twenty-third annual grilling conflict.

Bill Daddio, Pitt's talented end, placed the Panthers ahead midway in the first quarter with a placement field goal from the 25-yard scrimmage line. He later place-kicked an extra point after each of the four Pittsburgh touchdowns.

Getting up steam as the snow fell heavily in the second chapter, the Panthers scored on a one-sided triumph as Goldberg weaved his way through the Tartan team on a 42-yard touchdown run, culminating an advance from Pitt's own 28.

Mattei shortly recovered a fumble on Pitt's 27 and Big Arnold Greene, substitute fullback, broke through center 53 yards to set up another scoring chance. He smashed his way to the four-yard line and Larue banged over left guard for the second touchdown.

The undaunted Skibos retaliated with a touchdown 35 seconds before the end of the period. Recovering a fumble on Pitt's 26, Matelan on the second play rounded left end 19 yards to score and Captain Nestor Henrion place-kicked the extra point.

Four minutes after the third quarter opened Carnegie cashed its second touchdown on a 47-yard pass from Matelan to Keller. Kopsack place-kicked the extra point, to make the score Pitt 17, Tech 14. The Panthers scored on the succeeding kick-off. Larue took the boot on his own 13, slanted across the field and gave the ball to Goldberg, who outraced the Tartan clan 83 yards down the opposite sideline.

Goldberg ploughed six yards through right guard for the fourth Pitt touchdown in the final period before Raskowski recovered a fumble on Tech's 15-yard line.

MORRIS BROWN KAYOES CLARK

Morris Brown College completely outclassed a fighting Clark University football eleven, at Ponce de Leon park by the one-sided count of 19-0 Thursday afternoon before nearly 7,000 fans.

The game, featured by the running of Cooper, Fletcher Parks, Braxton, Dixon, Brown, English and Sad Sam Jones, backfield luminaries for the Wolverines, proved that the moniker given the winners, a team of a "thousand kicks," holds true.

LEGION FIELD, BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 26.—Coming back in the bus to their hotel from their 14-to-6 triumph over Vanderbilt today, the Alabama players said tonight that Georgia Tech was the best football team they faced this year.

They thought the Vanderbilt line might be, because of its weight, slightly superior. But Tech's backs and the team as a whole was the best team they played all this year, in which they won eight games and tied one with Tennessee at nothing to nothing. And that, you will agree, is something.

The day was a cold one with a terrific gale blowing. This gale gave to Alabama its last point. Kilgrow's kick for the extra point was wide by two or three feet but the wind caught it and blew it over the bar.

There may or may not be any significance in the fact that Joe Kilgrow takes time out for a little prayer for help as he kicks the ball. It's his idea. And he has converted 18 out of 26 tries this fall.

The wind-freezing blast gave the game one unusual feature. Before the first quarter was done the crowd had learned that if newspapers were torn up into small bits and tossed into the air they would flutter and swirl about in the air as the varying air currents caught them.

There were 24,000 people present and they were all trying it so, that for all the last half, the air was so full of torn bits of paper it appeared as if a heavy snowstorm was raging with flakes the size of flapjacks.

THE SOUP BOWL.

A half hour before those Vanderbilts came out to battle the Alabama football team, there was considerable talk about this bowl and that.

But it was so cold that the majority of those indulging in any thinking at all were thinking about a nice hot bowl of vegetable soup, or maybe a bowl of chowder.

Nevertheless, there was some talk about the Rose Bowl and the Sugar Bowl. Those games produce enough money to put a lot of sugar in a lot of bowls and also to purchase a lot of roses to grow around the doors of a lot of cottages.

Frank Thomas, coach of the Alabama football team, had had up to game time, no word from anyone on the coast or from anyone connected with the playing of the Rose Bowl game. The popular story crowding up a lot of good wires was that Jimmy Phelan, of Washington, had wired Frank Thomas something like this: "Dear Old Pal Frank: You are it if you can beat Vanderbilt and I can beat Washington State. We'll play the Rose Bowl game."

As a matter of cold fact, Phelan has, of course, not wired Thomas at all and the two are not even friends. They know and admire and respect one another, but they never got around to be pals, probably because they rarely meet.

Thomas was in a bad spot as he came up for the Vanderbilt game. He would have been in a better one had he lost a game somewhere back along the trail. He was expected to lose two or three.

Frank Thomas Places Fitzsimons on Team

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 26.—Coach Frank Thomas, of Alabama's undefeated Crimson Tide, tonight made his annual selection of an All-Southeastern conference team. Alabama and Louisiana State were the only teams getting two men on the pick.

Here is Thomas' selection: Gaynell Tinsley, L. S. U., and Dick Plasman, Vanderbilt, ends; Paul Carroll, L. S. U., and Bruiser Kinard, Ole Miss, tackles; Tarzan White, Alabama, and Mit Fitzsimons, Georgia Tech, guards; Walter Gilbert, Auburn, center; Joe Riley, Alabama, quarterback; Phil Dickens, Tennessee, and Bucky Bryan, Tulane, halfbacks, and Pat Coffee, L. S. U., fullback.

HUSKIES CLINCH ROSE BOWL BID BY FINE VICTORY

Phelan's Team Uncorks Dazzling Offensive To Smother Cougars.

SEATTLE, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The mighty Washington Huskies smothered the challenge of Washington State, 40 to 0, today, winning undisputed possession of the Pacific Coast conference football championship and the western Rose Bowl assignment.

The lopsided triumph saw Coach Jimmy Phelan's team wind up its conference with no defeats and a tie with Stanford.

Before a Thanksgiving Day sell-out crowd of 40,000, Washington rattled the Cougars with power plays and passes, scoring twice on long marches in the first period, on a 33-yard pass in the second, and three times in the closing quarter.

Washington gained 305 yards to 28 for the Cougars on running plays and rolled up 16 first downs to two.

By conquering the hitherto powerful warriors of Coach "Babe" Hollingberry, Washington hurdled the last obstacle in its path to the Pasadena New Year's Day classic.

Selection of the Huskies by conference officials will be only a formality. The victory gave Washington its

Tide Eleven Closes Undefeated Season

Thomas' Team Awaits Rose Bowl Bid; Joe Kilgrow Scores Winning Touchdown.

LOOKS LIKE TIDE

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Alabama's undefeated Crimson Tide late tonight appeared the probable opponent of unbeaten Washington in the New Year's Day football classic in Pasadena's Rose Bowl.

Nothing definite will be announced by Ray Eckmann, Washington athletic director, until a team is actually invited and accepts, he said.

Indications were no action would be taken until after Saturday's games, which include L. S. U. vs. Tulane.

By Ralph McGill.

LEGION FIELD, BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 26.—There was just a hint of roses in the freezing blast that blew here at sunset this afternoon at the close of Alabama's 14-to-6 victory over a stubborn Vanderbilt eleven. Twenty-four thousand spectators saw the battle.

The victory left Alabama undefeated at the end of a stormy season in which the best an opponent could do was a nothing-and-nothing tie by Tennessee. The victory left Alabama eligible for an invitation to the Rose Bowl, where on January 1, 1937, the Crimson eleven routed Stanford.

Alabama completed just two passes this afternoon. Both were for touchdowns. Joe Riley, who flung a touchdown pass in the Rose Bowl defeat of Stanford, flung both of them today.

Ben McLeod, one of the great stars of the game, caught the first one. Joe Kilgrow caught the second one. They came in the third and fourth periods

While the exact proceeds were not known last night, a fair estimate of the gate receipts for the annual Tech-Georgia freshman game, played for the benefit of the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children, ranges between $10,000 and $11,000, it was announced at the annual banquet of the A. A. C. C. which means that, despite unfavorable weather, Atlanta people responded to the extent of some $3,000 more than last year. Receipts last year amounted to $8,000. Yesterday's total attendance was 11,300.

By Jack Troy.

Georgia Tech's Baby Jackets, served up their Thanksgiving dinner by an alert, well-coached Georgia Bullpup eleven, 20 to 12, before 12,000 fans yesterday afternoon at Grant field, also must wear their freshmen caps until Christmas.

It was one of the finest games of the series and gave Georgia an edge of three victories to one.

The game, part of which was played in a swirling snow and all the way through on a slick field, saw considerable fumbling on both sides. Two fumbles led directly to touchdowns. And in this respect, all was even. Stephen, for Georgia took advantage of a recovery to go on and score and Tech did the same a bit later on.

OUTSTANDING PLAY.
The outstanding play of a game which saw defensive play reach a new height in the freshman series came after Tech had scored its second touchdown and was trailing only 13 to 12. Howard Ector had kicked off and Holman (Honey) Hunnicutt, who was a honey yesterday, returned 21 yards to the Bullpup 36.

Without any preliminary, Ben Ehrlich, former Boys' High back, circled end and raced 64 yards to the deciding touchdown. He was accompanied on the run by Knox Eldridge, who cut down Jimmy Brooks, Baby Jacket safety man and, of course, the only hope Tech had left.

When Billy Mims, another ex-Boys' High star, kicked extra point, there was no doubt left as to which team would be served.

DEFENSIVE STRENGTH.
Georgia's Bullpups showed entirely too much defensive strength from there on out.

The Bullpups never trailed in the annual game which is played for the benefit of the crippled children of the Scottish Rite hospital. It's a sweet charity and the response of Atlanta people, whose sympathetic nature is not to be excelled, provided the best "gate" of the four-game series yesterday.

No Georgia never trailed. The Bullpups took to the air for the first touchdown. Honey Hunnicutt took Tommy Brooks' punt late in the first quarter and returned it 10 yards to the Tech 40.

The next play was a touchdown, with Mims rifling a 30-yard pass to Vassar Cate, who sped the remaining 10 yards to the goal line unhindered. Honey Hunnicutt kicked extra point.

TECH GETS BREAK.
Tech got a break in the second quarter and utilized it for a touchdown.

Hunnicutt fumbled and Bill Cunningham recovered for Tech at the Bullpups' 26-yard line. A few of the Bullpup regulars were resting on the bench and were rushed back in at this point by Coach Johnny Broadnax.

But it did not go. Junior Page spun off tackle for 13 yards and a first down at the 13. Page got one and Bobby Beers got two yards at the line.

Tennessee Defeats 'Cats; Duke Wins Crown in Southern

Neyland's Team Comes Back in Snow To Nose Out Cats, 7-6.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 26.—(AP) The perfect placement of dependable Jim Porter, senior reserve end, was the University of Tennessee's margin today in a 7-to-6 victory over the Kentucky Wildcats in the 31st renewal of their ancient rivalry, played on snow-covered Shields-Watkins field, before 22,000 spectators.

Porter's well-placed kick which brought the point after touchdown served as an anticlimax to brilliant Phil Dickens' 70-yard dash, leading to the Vols' touchdown midway the third period.

Dickens took Rob Davis' long kick on his own 28-yard line, veered to the sidelines and, behind superb blocking, went to the Kentucky's 2-yard line before being brought down by Davis himself. Joe Dougherty, fullback, cracked right guard for the touchdown on the first try.

UNSTOPPABLE.
The Kentuckians, leading the Vols all the way in ground gaining, were unstoppable after Davis had booted a punt to the 4-yard line, where it was grounded.

Wood, sub for Dickens, sent the ball out to Davis on the 40 and the high-stepping halfback returned it to the 23. Simpson, Davis and Johnson tore great holes in the Vol forward wall, taking the ball to the 8-yard line in five plays, from which point Simpson crashed through center for the tally.

The placement which was ultimately to spell the difference between a tie and defeat was missed by Simpson.

Kentucky made a great scoring effort in the last period. A short pass over the line from Garland, sub for Johnson, to Coleman, sub for Robinson, was good for 76 yards, the receiver grabbing the five-yard toss and weaving in behind field blocking to get to the Tennessee five.

Petrels Lose To Stetson, 13 to 7

DELANO, Fla., Nov. 26.—(AP) Stetson's Hatters took the air in the final period to come from behind and down the Oglethorpe eleven, 13 to 7.

Fumbles led to the downfall of the favored Stormy Petrels.

Furlong, Stetson tackle, fell on a fumble on the Hatter 45 and the home team opened up with a 55-yard drive for its first score. Clonts flipped a pass to Cudmore for 10 yards and the touchdown.

Running back the kickoff, Puryear, Oglethorpe quarterback, dropped the ball and W. Anderson recovered for Stetson on the Stormy Petrel 30.

A try at the line netted 4 yards and Clonts flipped to Cudmore, who was in the clear, for a touchdown.

Cudmore made his individual score 13 points by placekicking the point after the first touchdown.

A long pass, Puryear to Zelenick, gave Oglethorpe the ball on Stetson's 9 as the second period opened. Clonts and Puryear picked up 6 yards on line smashes and Murphy tossed a lateral to Puryear, who skirted left end for Oglethorpe's touchdown. Puryear passed to Sullivan for the extra point.

Stetson's eight first downs in the final period gave the Hatters 11 to 7 for Oglethorpe. The visitors completed 4 passes out of 11 attempts for 90 yards. Two were intercepted. Stetson made 6 of 12 passes good, two being intercepted, for a total gain of 64 yards.

On rushing plays, Stetson outgained Oglethorpe 128 yards to 112.

Tech Seeks To Break 11-Year Losing Jinx in Athens.

By Jack Troy.

It is worthy of note that the Georgia Bulldogs have been sweeping and spreading like a forest fire before a high wind since the return of Wild Bill Hartman and Andy Rodenberry.

The origin of this fire can be traced first to Hartman and next to Rodenberry. Their return caused so many sparks that fire was inevitable, since the sparks fell on the dry tinder of suppressed achievement.

One and all have had a chance to see what the Bulldogs are capable of since that happy day almost a month ago when Coach Harry Mehre said "Bill (speaking of Hartman) is not entirely recovered, but he wants to play against Florida. I don't know if he can play more than 10 minutes but I will start him."

The rest is well known. Hartman, who hadn't been in the past five games, was turned loose against the Gators, along with Rodenberry, who also had been injured.

Well, the two of them really set off the spark. And the resultant fire has been burning brightly ever since. Ask Tulane and Fordham.

The fire-fighting Jackets, of Georgia Tech, who have been battling misfortune all season, will endeavor to stop Saturday what they call "the way of bringing the Bulldog blaze under control."

READY FOR BATTLE.
They'll tackle the job in high spirits regardless of the fate that befell Tulane and Fordham. The Jackets went through their last intensive workout yesterday morning at the Rose Bowl field.

The coaches and players enjoyed a busman's holiday in the afternoon. They attended the Tech-Georgia freshman game at Grant field.

The usual work on the kickoff and signals, along with such other matters that need special attention, will occupy both squads today.

Well 11 years is a long time in any man's language, including the Scandinavian. It has been just that long since a Tech team has walked off an Athens gridiron the winner.

There is a great deal of inclination among the wagering people to keep Tech up there as the favorite. And yet the basis for such reasoning is a bit hard to understand.

In only one game, really, has Tech proved it can play football in the first half. That was the Kentucky game.

Of course, the Jackets rammed the football down the collective throat of the Fighting Gators from Gainesville to defeat the Thomasville Bulldogs by the score of 14 to 0 and closed their 1936 football season without a defeat.

Furlow, a reserve tackle, cannot be used. He has been ill all week with influenza.

He's been playing the bugs or vice versa. This leaves tackle strength somewhat diminished, especially in so far as reserves are concerned.

The Jacket squad will depart for Athens Saturday morning and will arrive only in time to warm up and go out for the kickoff.

They will be accompanied by Inky, 10-year-old "luck-piece."

Long Purple Streak Ended by Stingarees

Hurricane Offense Fails To Click; Winners Make Lone Tally in Last Quarter.

By Roy White.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 26.—Boys' High's Purple Hurricane failed to blow with any velocity in Miami's municipal stadium here this afternoon and Miami High ended the Purple's three-year winning streak with a 7-to-0 victory over the Atlantans.

The Stingarees outplayed the Purple's from the opening kickoff, with the line showing up particularly well. Miami took advantage of every break to give a 11,000 crowd, one of the largest of the year, the greatest ball game of the season.

Miami scored late in the fourth quarter, after turning back several Boys' High threats within scoring distance. It was a 15-yard pass, Harris Carey, a substitute back to Albury Scherer, ace pass receiver of the Miami High eleven, which broke the Boys' High winning streak which had reached 33 games. Scherer was standing behind the Boys' High goal when he jumped up to grab the winning pass, which was a 15-yard pass, Harris Carey, a substitute back to Albury Scherer, ace pass receiver of the Miami High eleven, which broke the Boys' High winning streak which had reached 33 games. ## RAMS DEFEATED BY N. Y. U., 7 TO 6, IN GREAT UPSET

Startling Setback Is First of Season for Jim Crowley's Team.

By Paul Mickelson.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Fordham's proud and lucky Rams, who only a few days ago were on the high road toward the Rose Bowl and national championship recognition, were buried today under a heavy coverlet of blooming violets from their backyard.

As 50,000 startled and then stunned spectators looked on at Yankee stadium, the Violets from New York University toppled the twice tied but heretofore undefeated Rams by the margin of a kick, 7 to 6, in a football upset that must be ranked as one of the greatest of a dizzy season.

The Violets, beaten 60 to 0 by Ohio State and trimmed by both North Carolina and Carnegie Tech without registering anything close to a major victory in one of their saddest seasons in many moons, were rated as one of the surest fire losers of the year's campaign until they took the field, rushed over their touchdown in the second period and then held on without shrinking to hold their precious margin. Alertness and sheer determination against mounting odds carried the Violets to the surprising triumph, their first over their Bronx rivals since 1928 and only their fifth in a heated intra-city rivalry that began in 1889.

RIGHT COMBINATION.

Bernard Bloom and George Savarese provided the combination that netted the blooming violets their great, unexpected victory but the greatest hero of the Violet bouquet from the Bronx unquestionably was Howard Dunney, six-foot end who learned his first football at Montclair, N. J., academy. Dunney trimmed the Ram horns with one of the most magnificent kicking performances probably in all football history.

It was Dunney who opened the road for the Violet touchdown in a thrill-packed second period. One of his kicks traveled 40 yards and skidded out on the Ram 5. Quarterback Andy Palau kicked from behind his goal and Savarese returned the punt 10 yards to the Fordham 35. A mixed Violet attack, featured by a pass from Bloom to Savarese for 12 yards, put the ball on the Ram 1-yard line. Held twice by the enraged Ram line, Bloom faked a plunge and then lateraled to Savarese who raced around his right end for a touchdown standing up. Salvatore Somma's kick for the extra point—the boot that ultimately won the game—split the uprights and the Violet crowd went wild.

BADLY RUSHED.

The Rams, rushed badly as they attempted passes dropped into coffin corner repeatedly by Dunney's great kicks, struck suddenly to score just as the half ended. Getting possession on their 34, a minute and a half to go and the Violets a if wozzy under the spell of their success, Leo Paquin tossed a lateral to Alexander Wojciechowski, who ran it 39 yards before he was hauled down on the Violet 27. Captain Francis Mautte, badly banged up in the furious game, drilled to the 20. On fourth down, George McKnight dropped back 10 yards with perfect protection and threw a high pass to Joe Woltoski who caught the ball far over the Ram goal line for an easy touchdown. McKnight, in attempting the placement for a tie, was given plenty of time by the firm Ram line, but he hurried his kick and the ball sailed low and wide to miss its mark by many feet.

AUGUSTA MEET STARTS TODAY

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 26.—(AP)—A field which Robert E. Harlow, P. G. A. tournament manager, described as the biggest ever assembled in the south, went through final practice rounds today for the 72-hole, $5,000 Augusta Open golf tournament starting tomorrow.

Gene Sarazen, Connecticut farmer and winner of the recent Australian Open, was one of the last top-flight players to put in his appearance yesterday.

His entry came a few minutes before Walter Hagen, who said trouble with his hip sprain caused his defeat in the Pinehurst P. G. A. last week, telegraphed his registration. Dave Ogilvie Sr., professional at the Augusta Country Club where the first 36 holes will be played, listed over 200 golfers for the tournament, divided in two 18-hole rounds Thursday and Friday, and the final 36 Sunday over the Forest Hills course. Bobby Cruikshank, shooting the front tees of the country club's par 72-hole championship course, posted a 67 yesterday, lowest score of the practice rounds.

PENN RALLIES TO NIP CORNELL

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's vastly superior power attack turned back Cornell's gallant sophomores today, 14 to 6, before a crowd of 57,000 spectators at Franklin field.

The veteran Quaker eleven, rated one of the east's most formidable aggregations, came from behind in the second half to win decisively after being fought to a standstill for more than two periods and yielding a touchdown to the brilliant 46-yard runback of a punt by Cornell's George Peck. The big Red team made its greatest defensive stand by taking the ball on downs, on their own one-yard mark, at the start of the second period, besides halting other Quaker power thrusts on the 13, 16 and 20-yard marks.

GRAIN TRADER FEARS NEW DROUGHT IN 1937*Fresh Dust Storms Indicate Top Soil Is Too Dry.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Dust storms in the wheat country have inspired fresh fears among grain traders that drought again may threaten farm crops in 1937.

Crop news stresses reports that high winds have been kicking up dust in the wheat country, and that the soil is dry, probably too dry to nourish the roots.

More thought of another serious dry spell, analysts said today, was caused for alarm, with grain supplies already depleted as a result of successive years of drought culminating in 1936.

H. C. Donovan, Chicago crop expert, said he feared the "dust bowl" in the southwest would be in evidence again next spring, although somewhat diminished on the eastern extremity.

"Overbalancing this decrease," he said, "are the threatening subsoil moisture shortages troubles of western Nebraska and the similar situation all through spring wheat sections of both the United States northwest and western Canada."

Moisture deficiency in these areas is said to be the worst in 30 years, making the whole situation more alarming than did the bad condition that existed a year ago at this time.

Donovan drew an outline of the drought areas of the winter wheat belt, where grain is now growing. On the map it was a rough rectangle, touching eastern sections of the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles, eastern Kansas, southeastern Nebraska, western Colorado and northwestern New Mexico.

The Cargill Grain &amp; Elevator Company reported that in the dry area of western Kansas and surrounding territory crop prospects were poor.

COLUMBIA PROFESSOR DIES. BRYN MAWR, Pa., Nov. 26.—(AP)—William Henry Carpenter, professor of Columbia University from 1912 to 1926, and a member of the Columbia faculty for 43 years, died last night. He was 83.BULLPUPS BEAT JACKETS, 20-12 play, scored the touchdown. Page took the snap, tossed the ball to Red Paine, guard, who in turn handed it off to Clay as he came around. Jimmy Jones blocked Ector's kick from placement.

There was no more scoring in the first half. Early in the third period Brooks fumbled and Eldridge recovered at the Tech 18.

Fans then got a chance to see a real goal line stand after Mims passed 16 yards to Eldridge, who was downed at the four. Jim Fordham and Hunnicutt drove to the one.

PASS NO GOOD. But Hunnicutt lost two when Ector closed in fast and Billy Mims' fourth down pass intended for Cate was batted down by Bayer on a great play.

Tech made another stand a little later on, but interference on a fourth-down pass gave Georgia the ball at the eight-yard line.

The pass was Mims to Eldridge and a Tech player knocked Eldridge down before he had a chance to try for the ball, which it appeared he might not have been able to catch.

Anyway, the Bullpups trucked on in from the eight. Honey Hunnicutt drove to the five and then carried the ball over on a powerful rush. He carried the Tech left tackle across in front of him. Honey gave him the bum's rush.

E. P. Wesley blocked Mims' kick and Tech still had a chance. Going on into the fourth quarter, the Baby Jackets still were trailing.

But Brooks had taken over. Mims' kick returned 7 to the 47, there was some action.

Brooks hit the line for six yards and Page handed the ball to Ector, who raced 29 yards to the 27. Fry got four more yards on an end around and Brooks carted the ball around end for eight yards and a first down at the 15. Georgia regulars, resting again, came rushing in.

NO STOPPING. But there was no stopping this drive, which finally amounted to 53 yards of steady driving. Page rammed to the seven-yard line and from there to the one. Brooks carted the ball across the double stripes. And Ector's kick was wide.

Then Georgia scored in one play from scrimmage after the kickoff. It was the brilliant run of Ben Erlich that did it. Tech had a chance up to this point.

The Georgia defense was too tough the rest of the game. The statistics showed the Bullpups' superiority, even though they did score twice as the result of breaks.

Georgia made nine first downs to eight, gained 206 yards rushing to 170, made 83 yards on passes to none for Tech and drew 15 yards in penalties to 20 for Tech.

BULLPUP STARS. Mims, the fine passer; Hunnicutt, Cate, Fordham and Ehrlich starred in the Bullpup backfield. McCaskill was a fine end. He was injured and had to leave the game, but he was great while he was in there. Then, too, Dick Jones, former Boys' High star and acting captain, was good until he was forced to leave because of an injury. Jerome Pinkney, Eldridge and Wheelan played fine ball in the line.

Jim Spessard was injured on the Baby Jacket side. He was carted off on a stretcher.

The boys who looked best for Tech in the backfield were Bobby Beers, Page and Brooks.

Roane Beard, Bo Richards, Red Paine, Cunningham, Kirslein and Clay stood out in the Baby Jacket line. The great crowd was highly entertained yesterday. A more spectacular game would be difficult to conceive.

Coach McArthur's Baby Jackets suffered a bit from a fumble and a slipping penalty, but when old lady justice adjusted the scales the Baby Jackets were weighed and found wanting.

first coast championship since 1925. Playing the one team today that had a chance to tie for the coast title, Washington took no chances and rolled up as many touchdowns as possible.

Big Al Cruver, sophomore fullback, played the role of the hero, counting the first two touchdowns on line plunges and another on an intercepted pass.

On a march of 63 yards in the first eight minutes, Cruver plunged 1 yard for the initial touchdown.

Two minutes later he ran the last 15 yards to the goal line on a 44-yard drive.

In the second stanza Waskowitz whipped a 22-yard pass to Byron Haines, who breezed over the goal line. Washington took advantage of the breaks while the Cougars were throwing the ball around in desperation, and tallied three times in quick succession in the fourth quarter.

Chin Lee, veteran Chinese mat star, will pit his jui jitsu against the strength and skill of John Mauldin, tonight in the feature match of the North Side arena card.

Mauldin's reputation as a grappler of the first water is well known here and he will have to be at his best if he wishes to successfully defend his crown against the powerful Chin Lee.

Count Petro Rossi, victorious in his debut here last week, engages the rough and ready Joe Willard, of Nashville, Tenn., in the one hour semi-windup.

The colorful count is expected to take Willard in stride. Tony Papalino, Italian ace, faces Don Jose, Mexican mean man, in the one-hour opener, a winner take all match.

The North Side arena is located at Bankhead highway and Marietta streets and is comfortably heated.

yard line before he was overtaken by Dickens.

Here Captain Nevers, of Kentucky, went to the bench with the referee and asked Coach Chet Wynne to put Johnson, star runner, back into the game.

Johnson came trotting out onto the field. He carried the ball twice, Simpson once and Davis once, but the Vol forwards yielded only four and one-half yards, the ball going over to Tennessee on the 18-yard line.

The game was Tennessee's third

Orville Brown Meets Clever Roche Tonight

Orville Brown and Dory Roche, two of wrestling's ranking heavyweights, and strong attractions here, will headline an imposing lineup of mat matches at the Atlanta theater tonight, beginning at 8:30.

It is the fourth meeting of these two arch rivals and promises to be every bit as sensational as were their previous bouts, which ran the scale of thrills. Fans have come to know that when this pair of topnotchers go into action, they are in for a highly thrilling bit of entertainment.

This will be the "rubber" meeting. Each has scored a victory with the third match resulting in a draw after 90 blistering minutes.

Brown, the game's greatest exponent of the Indian deathlock, one of wrestling's rarest and deadliest holds, is regarded as a more finished wrestler than Roche, but the ex-coal miner is a former boxer who knows how to use his dukes and with this advantage, will doubtless be able to give the farmer boy a tough evening. Both men usually forget themselves and resort to rough tactics when opposing one another, although ordinarily they are clean warriors.

Another match of interest and one that looks good to fandom is the Sun Jennings-Karl Davis semi-final. Davis is notoriously rough and assures action always, while Jennings, an accomplished wrestler, can also take care of himself in the rough going.

Sol Sigel, roly-poly Jewish contortionist, proved his ability to wrestle as well as give the fans a laugh last week in his draw with Milo Steinborn. In tonight's opener he meets Roland Kirchmeyer, tall and skillful Oklahoma A. &amp; M. product.
